'Junior McCone' Study Urged In Marin City

TALLY HO!

The hunt was on this morning for hundreds of Marin youngsters as they searched for Easter eggs in parks, ball fields and playgrounds all around the county. Shown here are a few of the 300 San Rafael children who went after paper "eggs" at Albert Park. Those who picked up enough of the paper ones got the real thing, plus candy, while a few lucky ones like Robert McEachern Jr. of 104A Merrydale Road (below), found gold eggs and came away with such prizes as this big plastic duck. Bruce Asks Aid On Jobs

County Administrator Alan Bruce has suggested formation of an ad hoc commission to investigate the problem of Marin City and has urged that the county take a more active role in finding jobs throughout Marin for Negroes.

His recommendations went to the supervisors yesterday and will be discussed by them Tuesday.

STORMY SESSION

Bruce said individual board members had suggested an ad hoc commission soon after last Tuesday's stormy session in which Marin City youths aired complaints.

The administrator assigned County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to look into the possibility, and Maloney came up with several recommendations after talking to Warren Christopher, vice chairman of the state McCone Commission, which investigated Watts.

JUNIOR McCONE

His recommendations include forming a "junior McCone Commission" with a staff and investigator which can explore the basic issues underlying unrest in the predominantly Negro community. He suggests the commission can later set up an office in Marin City and hold hearings, but warns that residents will have little faith in these measures until enough in-

EXPLOSION ROCKS ANTI-VIET OFFICE

Blast Slightly Hurts Four Workers Preparing New Demonstrations

BERKELEY (UPI) — An explosion possibly caused by a bomb early today rocked the Berkeley headquarters of the Viet Nam Day Committee (VDC), a militant group opposed to U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Four persons were slightly injured and five nearby buildings also were damaged.

Police Capt. William Beal said the explosion left a "heavy smell of gunpowder, leading us to believe a bomb was set."

It was the second mysterious early morning blast in five weeks at Bay Area headquarters of organizations opposed to the Viet Nam conflict. The national office of the W.E.B. DuBois club in San Francisco was blown off its foundation March 6 by a dynamite charge. It was unoccupied at the time.

Police have not made any arrests in connection with the DuBois bombing.

Today's VDC bombing came as the group prepared to announce a "street demonstration" next Tuesday in sympathy with riots in South Viet Nam opposing that country's military government.

Twelve persons were in the VDC headquarters when the blast occurred at 12:15 a.m. The injured were cut by flying glass and one received burns.

The explosion, heard a mile away, ripped apart the back of the building and the side of a home next door. All the windows in the headquarters and in the houses on either side were blown out. Three other nearby buildings also were damaged. (See picture page 2.)

Long March Nears Goal For Strikers

FREEPORT (UPI) — Happy Delano grape pickers marched the semifinal leg of their 300-mile pilgrimage to the state capital today, confident of full victory and vowing to win it or strike forever.

"The ranchers know they're beaten. They're concerned," declared Carolina Franco, 22, one of 67 bitter farm workers who 24 days ago dramatically set out on foot through the farm-rich San Joaquin Valley.

"They have no way out. And the sooner they give in the better."

She echoed the sentiments of practically all the more than 400 marchers who stayed last night in this tiny fishing and farming settlement tucked under a levee of the historic Sacramento River.

The marchers—with their brightly-colored banners and pickets—planned to walk the final five miles to the state capital by 1:30 p.m. Easter Sunday.

They originally had hoped to be greeted by Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the capital steps. But Brown had promised to spend

Christians Await Easter Sunrise

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christians around the world prepare today to mark Easter with sunrise services and fashion parades in observance of the joyous holiday commemorating the Resurrection of Christ.

From the solemn splendor of St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City to thousands of lesser known places of worship in many lands, choirs will sing and people will gather to hear messages of hope for a better world.

"Easter, the greatest annual demonstration of the life force, should encourage us as we struggle for racial justice and human brotherhood," said the Rev. Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, president of the Protestant Council, in an Easter appeal.

Along with millions of fellow churchgoers of Western Christianity, two million Greek Orthodox worshippers and five million others from Eastern Orthodox churches will celebrate Easter Sunday. Not until 1974 will both Eastern and Western churches observe the holiday again on the same day.

Roman Catholics gathered today for an Easter vigil service in St. Peter's Basilica. In memory of the day Christ was hidden in the tomb, a simple rite was planned known as the "Blessing of the Fire" — with a flame symbolizing the return of Christ to the world.

A half million tourists were on hand in Rome for the Easter observance.

In this country, one dramatic pilgrimage ended at midnight in tribute to the day Christ died. Hundreds knelt and prayed as they climbed a long flight of stairs at the Immaculate Conception Church on Mt. Adams, overlooking downtown Cincinnati, Ohio. For 100 years, the service has been conducted every Good Friday.

Other reverent gatherings, small and large, indoors and outdoors, were planned for Sunday across the nation. Then, pageants and prayer will give way to processions of paraders garbed in bright holiday finery.

Always a bright springtime festival is the colorful Easter

PROPERTY TAX DEADLINE NEAR

Deadline for the second installment of county property taxes is 5 p.m. Monday.

Those missing the deadline will have to pay a 6 per cent penalty plus $3 on each tax parcel to cover publication of the tax delinquency list.

Mailed payments postmarked prior to midnight Monday will not be subject to penalty, County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez said.

Buddhists Give Tough Statement In Saigon

SAIGON (UPI) —Influential Buddhist leaders declared virtual war today on Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and a showdown in the political struggle appeared imminent. The United States moved more Americans out of potential major troublespots.

As the threat of civil war sharpened, U.S. Marines armed with flamethrowers and rifles with fixed bayonets evacuated 538 Americans and other non-Vietnamese civilians from Da Nang. Seventy-two Americans and other foreign nationals were moved out of Hue, 60 miles north of Da Nang, on Thursday and U.S. civilians and servicemen have been warned to keep off the streets of Saigon.

Ky today named Lt. Gen. Ton That Dinh to take over command of Da Nang and the five provinces of the 1st Corps Area in the north where rebellious officers declared yesterday their loss of confidence in the Saigon government.

Rival military forces already are facing each other in Da Nang, a major port city, about 385 miles northeast of Saigon and the site of a major U.S. base.

The colorful Dinh, who is a flashy immaculate dresser and likes to wear brightly-colored scarves knotted about his throat like Ky, replaces Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Chuan. Ky had named Chuan to succeed Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chan Thi, whose dismissal as commander of the First Corps in March triggered the spark for Buddhist and student riots demanding an end to military rule in South Viet Nam. But Chuan failed to restore government control in the area.

Dinh, played a leading role in the overthrow of President Ngo

U.S. Bombers Blast Reds' Radio Center

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. B-52 bombers struck at a Viet Cong communications center in the Communist D Zone 35 miles northeast of Saigon today dumping more than half a million pounds of explosives on the area, an Air Force spokesman said

Flying single file, the giant planes made what the spokesman described as a "major assault" on the Viet Cong's military region No. 7.

Apparently prisoners captured by the 173rd Airborne Brigade and 1st Infantry Division in heavy fighting against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong several weeks ago provided information to pin down the location of a 10-building communications center which operated radio contact for the entire sector.

The communications center was known to be an under-

Jury Frees Vallejo Woman On Shooting

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—A circuit court jury has acquitted Jean Eva Keebler, 39, Vallejo, on a charge of fatally shooting James Thomas Eagerton, 39, last November.

The defense claimed Mrs. Keebler acted in self defense.

EASTER SERVICES LISTED IN PAPER

A list of Easter services by Marin churches is carried on page 22 of today's Independent-Journal.

Sunrise services will open the day's worship. Services are scheduled at 5:45 a.m. on San Rafael Hill, and at 6 a.m. on the hill behind Aldersgate Methodist Church, Terra Linda, at Sidney B. Cushing Memorial Theater on Mount Tamalpais, at the 101 Drive-In movie theater north of San Rafael, and on Mount Burdell in Novato.

See church page for details of services.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Teen-Age Barrier

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A teen-ager who cruises through the parking lot of his favorite drive-in restaurant too often could lose his driver's license, under terms of a new bill in the Michigan House of Representatives.

Klan Fights Blackout

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan has announced plans to hold a rally in Delaware tonight, but a statewide ban on outside fires may thwart plans for a cross burning. A Klan spokesman said last night electric lights may be used as a substitute.

South Dakota Cold

NEW YORK (UPI) — The highest temperature reported yesterday to the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Hawaii and Alaska, was 93 degrees at Blythe, Calif., Gila Bend, Ariz., and Presidio, Texas. The lowest reported this morning was 17 degrees at Huron, S.D.

Racial Census Set

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Preliminary plans for the state's first racial census in the public schools will be presented to the State Board of Education next week. The census also will include professional and nonprofessional school district employees.

Old Easter Bun

READING, England (UPI) — A 140-year-old hot cross bun was put on display Friday at the home of Mrs. Ethel Reynolds. Mrs. Reynolds said the bun was given to her by her great grandmother who had kept it as a memento of her son's birthday on Good Friday, 1826.

Handles The Habit

DALLAS (UPI) — Mrs. Isabelle Wilcox, who is 103 years old, smokes two packs of cigarettes a day and she says it hasn't hurt her health a bit. Her secret: She doesn't inhale.

To Chase Beatniks

ST. IVES, England (UPI) — The City Council has hired a former Buckingham Palace police guard and his Alsatian dog to clear beatniks off the beach at night.

Inherit Their Jobs

LONDON (UPI) — According to a survey by the Institute of Directors, 63 per cent of 2,400 directors quizzed got their jobs from their fathers.

Indonesia Head Dies

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Sutan Sjahrir, first premier of Indonesia after it won independence in 1949 died today in a Zurich hospital after suffering a stroke. He was 57. Sjahrir, a socialist, was jailed by President Sukarno for his political moderation.

Flooring License

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Unless written protest is filed, the contractors state license board announced today it will issue a license April 25 to Rex Marsh, 424 Miller Creek Road, Marinwood, for seamless liquid flooring. Charles R. Marsh is the applicant.

Police Slaying Suspect Nabbed

VALLEJO (AP) — A young Oakland restaurant worker is in jail today without bail as officials prepare charges against him in the fatal shooting of two Vallejo policemen.

James E. Anderson, 23, alias Robert Jones, unarmed, was arrested yesterday on an Oakland street by a police sergeant taken off his regular desk job to help in an intensive manhunt.

Anderson

He was booked later at the Solano County branch jail in Vallejo in an investigation of murder case. Police said the grand jury would be given the case.

The two victims, officers Calvin Thacker, 36, and William Easson, 31, had radioed Thursday night that they were stopping a car for a traffic violation on a dead end street in Vallejo.

Moments later Thacker was shot through the neck and killed instantly. Easson, shot under the chin and under the right arm, died on the way to a hospital.

Sgt. Carl Hurd was taken off his inside job in the Oakland Police Department's report control section, given a photograph of the suspect and sent out in an unmarked cruiser.

The sergeant spotted Anderson as he cruised along East 24th Street. He stopped the suspect and handcuffed him. There was no resistance.

"It was easier than most arrests," Hurd said later.

Vallejo police, shocked and saddened, announced that separate funerals will be conducted for the slain officers Monday in Vallejo.

Scared Lion Mauls Pretty Model

NEW YORK (AP)—A lion posing with a pretty model at an auto show preview suddenly turned on her and inflicted a gash in her left thigh. The animal held on until a keeper pried its jaws open.

The brunette model, Nell Theobald, 22, was described in satisfactory condition today at Roosevelt Hospital. Doctors said that she may need several plastic surgery operations to repair the damage.

The 2-year-old, 225-pound lion was supposed to bite through a red ribbon and officially open the International Automobile Show at the Coliseum yesterday.

The lion appeared calm enough as the girl knelt beside him. Then television cameras moved and flash bulbs went off, and the lion turned on the model.

Cleveland Amory, director of the Humane Society of America, was among 150 spectators present. He said the animal appeared confused and frightened, adding: "He probably thought the lights were attacking him. It doesn't know what it did."

The man who freed Miss Theobald was Leonard Brock, 30, of Scarsdale, N.Y. Police said it was he who hired the lion from the Dawn Animal Agency. Given summonses for failure to provide proper protective devices for a wild animal were Brock, a man identified only as William North, and David Sabo of Amenia, N.Y., said to be the owner of the lion.

Red Congress Visitors Depart

MOSCOW (UPI) — Foreign Communist leaders who attended the 23rd Soviet Communist party congress began a rapid weekend exodus from Moscow today, apparently eliminating the prospects of a Communist "summit meeting."

Delegates from Romania, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Bulgaria had already left for home. Most of the rest of the 86 foreign delegations which attended the two-week congress were expected to leave during the weekend.

Among the departing leaders were Romania's Nicolae Ceausescu, Czechoslovakia's Antonin Novotny, Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka and Bulgaria's Todor Zhivkov.

The foreign delegates to the congress included some of Communism's principal leaders. Their presence in Moscow at the same time inspired rumors that the congress would be followed by a top-level meeting to discuss Communist aid to Viet Nam and the Soviet-bloc stance toward China.

The foreigners conferred with Soviet leaders and with each other during the congress, sources said, but so far as is known there was no attempt to convene a big international meeting.

Hong Kong Riots Bring Jail Terms

HONG KONG (UPI) —Eleven persons were sentenced today to two years in prison for their part in yesterday's riots in the Kowloon district of this British Crown colony.

Almost 200 others were fined $40 and handed jail terms ranging down to one month. Most of them had broken the curfew imposed when the riots started Wednesday night.

The disturbances grew out of a small protest demonstration against a raise in ferry boat prices from three cents to four. One youth was shot for looting as criminal elements took over the riots, which appeared to have no political significance.

BERKELEY ROCKED BY BLAST

Four members of the Viet Nam Day Committee were slightly hurt and the neighborhood shaken shortly after midnight today when what police say was a bomb shattered the rear of the VDC headquarters. It was the second bombing of Berkeley activist groups' offices in recent weeks — the W.E.B. DuBois headquarters was damaged in a still unsolved blast early in March. (See story on page 1.) Accrual Becomes A Loaded Word In Sacramento Budget Debates

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Robert T. Monagan, Republican floor leader in the lower house, says he knows more about accounting than those who call Gov. Edmund G. Brown's budget balancing bookkeeping plan an "accrual system."

Monagan issued a statement yesterday in reply to Sen. Virgil O'Sullivan, D-Williams, who charged earlier in the day that Monagan had not done "his homework on accrual accounting."

O'Sullivan is the legislative sponsor of the governor's bill to change the state's accounting system. The move would produce one-time paper revenues of $250 million, enough to offset a projected budget deficit.

Monagan said O'Sullivan's bill "provides that we not accrue bank and corporation tax revenue."

Accrual is a bookkeeper's word for a system of accounting under which revenue is put on the books when it is earned but before it is actually received.

The O'Sullivan bill would put all revenues except for the bank and corporation tax on the accrual system. Those revenues would remain on a cash basis. Under a payment speed-up plan adopted several years ago, the money from that tax is received before it is accrued.

Monagan said the Republican opposition would be willing to accept a full accrual system but would not support the partial accrual plan contained in the O'Sullivan bill.

But full accrual, as Monagan describes it, would wipe out most of the budget balancing revenue.

O'Sullivan, in his statement, had reminded Monagan that the accrual system was suggested by a Republican administration 20 years ago.

Arthur is 9 years old.

Japan's Teeners Express Values

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's current crop of teen-agers values happiness, love and friendship far above religion, success and patriotism, a survey said today.

The survey, conducted on 1,616 high school pupils in Tokyo, had been compiled by the Tokyo High School Research Institute on Ethics and Society.

Shown a list of 25 items, the teen-agers were asked to mark three they thought of greatest concern to them.

The issue of life and death, freedom and peace ranked next to happiness, love and friendship.

Howard Hughes Sells Airline Holdings

NEW YORK (UPI) —Howard Hughes, the multimillionaire financier and mystery figure in the aviation business, offered yesterday to put up for public sale his 75.18 per cent interest in Trans World Airlines valued at $526 million.

The sale would be one of the largest stock offerings in financial history. It would involve 6,584,937 common shares which Hughes purchased for less than $45 million over a period of time. It would also sever Hughes' sometimes tempestuous relations with TWA.

Military Buildup Speedup Revealed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Army is speeding its Viet Nam troop buildup, opening three new training centers able to turn out a total of 30,000 soldiers a month.

An announcement yesterday said new reception stations and training centers will be in operation by early July at Forts Lewis, Wash., Bragg, N.C., and Campbell, Ky.

The Army said each will be able to take in 1,000 recruits a week and handle an average basic combat training load of 10,000.

Meantime, it was learned the Air Force will quicken its basic training by going from a five-day to a six-day training week and cutting the course from six to four weeks.

The new Army centers were the first to be added since the military buildup began last summer, although it was reported earlier this week that overcrowded training facilities were delaying reserve programs and perhaps holding down monthly draft quotas.

The Army said each of the new centers would need 4,500 military men and civilians for their operations. It was announced Thursday 15,000 urgently needed military specialists were being withdrawn from European stations to join training cadres here.

On another front, Selective Service officials clarified yesterday who would be eligible to take draft deferment tests scheduled to be given at 1,200 locations throughout the nation on May 14, May 21 and June 3.

They said any high school senior planning to go to college or anyone now enrolled in an accredited post-high school institution of learning could take the test.

But they said students in such institutions would have to be full-time and in good standing to qualify.

The test of itself will not guarantee deferment, but will be used, along with class standing and other standards, as a guide to local draft boards when they determine a student's draft classification.

Judge Outlaws Coffee Chats

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) —One of the first acts of Judge Horace Geer, new on the Superior Court, was this decision: No more coffee for opposing attorneys during court recesses.

In most courtrooms here when recess time comes attorneys for both sides troop into the judge's chambers and have coffee with the judge.

"I don't think it's proper," said Judge Geer. "Your clients don't like it when you leave them and walk off for a social hour with the opposing attorney."

Officials Unhappy With Topless Exec

HONOLULU (UPI) —She may have managerial ability, but the city liquor commission isn't sure yet whether the topless waitress ought to double as assistant manager of a popular nightclub.

Says Commissioner Wilfred H. S. Young: "Sometimes the assistant manager must leave the establishment to call a policeman or pull a fire alarm. I'm not sure a topless waitress could do that."

Nunnery Reveal's Secret Of Man

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Buddhist nuns have learned that a member of their convent who has lived among them for 17 years is really a man.

Local newspapers reported today that the head of the Fengshan temple convent revealed the true identity of Chen Jui, 42, after having shared his secret from the start.

The abbess said Chen Jui was exceptionally pious and so thoroughly infused with Buddhist teachings as to be harmless, the papers said.

Chen Jui, whose real name is Shih Lien-fa, entered the convent as a novitiate when he was 25 years old, after his wife deserted him, the papers said.

Governor Solves Taxi Union Fight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An eight-month Yellow Cab Co. strike, which at times lapsed into violence, has been ended by the intervention of Gov. Grant Sawyer.

Officials of Yellow Cab accepted yesterday Governor Sawyer's arbitration ruling. They said Teamsters would replace non-union drivers.

Children Get Credit, Blame For Blazes

Two children were credited with putting out a fire, while a group of youngsters were blamed for starting another one in Novato yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lewis of 1658 Center Road were away when an electric blanket, which had been left on, burst into flame at 12:04 p.m. At home were their sons: Curt, who smelled smoke and an older brother, Jerry, who helped pull the bedding off and pour water on the fire.

When firemen arrived, they found the bedding outside the house and the boys mopping up the bedroom. They extinguished the still-smoldering mattress.

Sixteen minutes later, at 12:20 p.m., firemen were called to put out a fire in a children's tree house behind the home of George Azevedo, 1132 Simmons Lane. They said a rug inside the tree house was set afire by children playing with matches.

The department's fire prevention bureau team was investigating the case further today.

Easter Sunday with his family in Palm Springs. The marchers rejected the Governor's offer to meet another time.

"If he doesn't want to meet with us, we don't want to meet with him," said Cesar Chavez, 39-year-old militant leader of the fledgling National Farm Workers Assn.

"We voted unanimously to meet him Sunday or not at all. We've been on strike seven months. Something like this isn't going to demoralize anyone."

Chavez, the son of migrant farm workers who left school after the seventh grade, rejoined his marchers late yesterday after holding a news conference in San Francisco, 100 miles away.

The short, soft-spoken labor leader accepted with some qualifications an offer from the giant DiGiorgio Corp. to hold a union organizing election among workers. Chavez said details would be worked out later.

Cheavez said meanwhile the union would launch a nationwide boycott of DiGiorgio products tomorrow. "We will push this boycott until such time as we are in agreement on rules for an election," he said.

"As far as we're concerned the strike will continue. We're not going to let this thing drag on into a stalemate."

CHESTER JEFFERS

Funeral for Chester Jeffers, 78, of 1145 Fourth Street, San Rafael, will be in Independence, Mo., at the Ott and Mitchell Funeral Home.

Jeffers died Thursday at a local hospital. The coroner's office reported the cause of death as heart disease.

Jeffers was born in Independence, Mo., and came to Marin County eight years ago. He was a retired shipyard welder.

His daughter, Mrs. Helen Carter of Independence, is taking care of the arrangements.

BROWN, ROY ALLEN — With grateful hearts the family of the late ROY ALLEN BROWN acknowledges the many kindnesses extended in our bereavement. May God bless you all.

"Easter, with God an instrument for immortality, the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ."

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die."

Please may we offer St. Francis' prayer.

"O Lord, our Christ, may we have Thy mind and Thy spirit; make us instruments of Thy peace.

Where there is hatred, let us sow love;
where there is injury, pardon;
where there is discord, union;
where there is doubt, faith;
where there is despair, hope;

Greenbrae Brawl Ends With Five Arrested

Five men piled out of a car about 1 a.m. today and beat a Larkspur service station attendant who refused to wait on them because he had locked up for the night, sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputy Norman R. Johnson drove by in his patrol car, saw the scuffle and stopped. The quintet fled in their car, but Johnson caught up with them in a vacant lot about a block away.

Booked in Marin County Jail on charges of assault with a deadly weapon were Matthew Baccitich, 20, of San Francisco, with bail set at $2,200; Harry Barrett, 18, and Salvatore J. Vernale, 21, of San Francisco, and Joseph M. Sanchez, 18, of San Mateo, all with $1,100 bail, and Donald J. Wood, 20, of San Francisco, with $550 bail.

All remained in jail today, with arraignment in Marin Municipal Court set for Monday.

The station attendant, Stephen B. Curd, 22, of 148 Stetson Avenue, Corte Madera, said he had just turned off the lights at the Standard Station at 301 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, when the five men drove up.

When he refused to sell them gasoline, he said, they threatened him. He went inside, returned with a monkey wrench, and again told them to leave.

At this point, he said, all five jumped from the car and came at him. He said he dropped the wrench and headed for the office to phone police, but was caught before he could reach the building.

Curd suffered kicks to the groin, a cut lip and bruised nose and forehead.

When Deputy Johnson arrived, the men jumped back in their car and sped south on La Cuesta Drive, a dead end street. He found the car, with the men in it and lights out, in a vacant lot a block away. Johnson radioed for help and several police and sheriff's patrol cars came. The men offered no resistance when arrested, he said.

TODAY:

2:05 a.m., Sausalito — Electric wires sparked at home of Byron Mayo, 654 Sausalito Boulevard, throwing sparks; no damage.

Girl Injured By Hit-Run Motorist

An 18-year-old girl taxi dispatcher was slightly injured last night when a hit-run driver rammed the office of the Sausalito Taxi Service twice.

Carl F. Bavuso, 21, of 2 Harvard Drive, Larkspur, was arrested by San Rafael police after an all points bulletin was put out following the 8 p.m. incident in Sausalito.

He was released from Marin County Jail on $1,100 bail today after being booked on a felony hit and run charge. He has a court hearing set for Tuesday.

According to the dispatcher, Lee Ann Fritter of 45 Coloma Street, Sausalito, the car driver went through a stop sign and struck the office at El Portal, breaking a window. He then reversed the car and rammed the office a second time, driving off before Sausalito police could be called.

Miss Fritter was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised shin.

Ex-Undersheriff Takes New Post

Eugene L. Meyer, who resigned March 28 as undersheriff of Marin County, will become a deputy sheriff at Civic Center starting Monday.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said Meyer will work the 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. shift, which is mostly security duty. Deputy James Fleming, who has been on that shift, will return to the sheriff's civil department.

Meyer ended his other post because, he said, the duties were beyond what he could handle. New undersheriff is Sidney Stinson, who was formerly a captain.

Rock Hits I-J Truck In Sleepy Hollow

Independent-Journal truck driver Gary G. Collins, of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary, Strawberry, reported someone threw a rock at his truck when it was stopped near 667 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, about 4 p.m. yesterday.

He said the rock came in through an open front door and smashed the windshield.

BRUCE

formation has been gathered to focus on these issues.

Bruce also urged that the county apprenticeship program be expanded to other governmental and private employers through use of War on Poverty funds.

In a separate recommendation, he said that the major need in Marin City is jobs. There are not many more than 100 unemployed men in the community, he said.

Bruce urged a program of finding jobs or training at the rate of 10 a month—both among private and public employers.

The County Administrator has amended his earlier recommendations on the Human Rights Commission and the proposed new department of community services so that both would put their major effort on solving unemployment of minority group members in Marin County.

Bruce's ideas are to be discussed Tuesday after supervisors hear from representatives of the Hall of Justice contractor, Robert E. McKee, Inc., on complaints the firm has not been living up to the terms of its contract in regard to employment of minorities.

Supervisors are also scheduled to hear from Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos on the Marin City situation.

All this will come in the first part of the Tuesday board meeting which will start at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

parade on New York's Fifth Avenue that attracts hundreds of thousands.

Near Fredericksburg, Tex., fires will be set atop a scenic hilltop to recall a pledge of peace made to Indian settlers 120 years ago. Founders of the settlement vowed to light the fires each year the treaty remained unbroken.

In another massive gathering, more than 10,000 persons were expected for dawn services in foothills west of Denver in Red Rocks Park.

A larger pageant was planned in southwest Oklahoma near Lawton where 40,000 congregated last year in a wildlife refuge of the Wichita Mountains to see the story of Easter re-enacted.

402 Request Renewed Run Of Ferries

Reinstatement of ferry boat service between Marin and San Francisco is asked in a petition signed by 402 Marin citizens, mostly residents of Sausalito.

The petition was presented to County Supervisor Thomas T. Storer and will be introduced at a meeting of the Marin Transit Board Wednesday, along with similar petitions expected then.

The transit board meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Storer said there is another petition in Tiburon and a third gathering signatures in Mill Valley.

Storer said that the petitions are being circulated by volunteers "and there seems to be a spontaneous movement toward mustering public support for the return of water transportation."

Storer himself has long been a booster of ferry boats, sometimes to the frustration of other members of the transit board who are interested in establishing rapid commute buses as the first step in the march against traffic congestion.

Brothers Held For Battling Policeman

Two San Rafael brothers were arrested in San Anselmo last night after they tried to beat up a police sergeant who attempted to stop a quarrel between them.

Harry Brogioli, 28, and James Brogioli, both of 83 Woodland Avenue were both booked in Marin County Jail for resisting arrest, assaulting a police officer and being drunk. They were each released on $1,100 bail, pending a hearing on Tuesday.

According to police, Sgt. Don Nelson was called to the quarrel at a bar at 300 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, at 5:20 p.m.

When Nelson tried to stop a third person getting hurt in a pending fight, James Brogioli made a grab at the sergeant's gun but it was strapped into the holster.

Harry came to his brother's aid by jumping on Nelson's back. The fight ended with the arrival of Sgt. Al Howenstein and another officer.

BUDDHISTS

Dinh Diem's regime. He has a record for toughness. As military governor of Saigon before switching sides, his troops relentlessly crushed Buddhist anti-Diem demonstrations.

The Buddhist leaders flung down the gauntlet against Ky in an official communique. It said henceforth monks will openly lead demonstrators through the streets. It added Buddhist leaders will give advance notice of when and where the street marches would take place and dared the government to try to stop them.

The threat to the government was considered "most grave." The Buddhists have the support of a large part of the army, particularly in northern South Viet Nam. Soldiers in the rebellious cities of Da Nang and Hue were ready if necessary to turn their guns on loyalist troops.

At least one official sided with the Buddhists against Ky. Secretary of state in charge of inspection Ngo Trong Anh, who ranks just behind Deputy premier Nguyen Huu Co, announced today he will march with agitators demanding an elected government if Ky's military junta uses force against them.

The communique was signed by the head of the Buddhist Institute, Tam Chau, who is considered a political moderate.

Chau said the Vien Hoa Dao pagoda would become a war command post in the Buddhist drive to oust Ky and the ruling military junta.

Soldiers gathered in the streets around the pagoda, apparently to fight riotous Buddhist youths converging at the front gates for a sixth consecutive night of serious disturbances.

It was learned the Buddhists have formed "Kamikaze" squads of youths outfitted with masks as protection against tear gas to battle government troops. The communique also raised the possibility that Buddhist adults would join the rioting, dominated by youths up to now.

American military police ordered U.S. servicemen off the streets of Saigon and instructed them to remain in their quarters. American civilians were advised to stay off the streets.

The B-52's bombs have special fuses that pierce the earth to 15 feet before exploding. It was presumed the first strike or two laid the underground complex open for the following flights to exert more punishment.

Asked if the enemy radio in the area was still functioning after the raid, the Air Force officer said: "No, it was silent."

The U.S. and South Vietnamese government forces together with their Australian, South Korean and New Zealand allies, carried on with military operations at undiminished pace.

The Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese regulars, however, generally avoided ground contact and the accent was placed on the aerial assaults.

Over North Viet Nam, U.S. Air Force and Navy carrier pilots from the 7th Fleet paid some damaging Good Friday visits.

In South Viet Nam the units of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division and a brigade of the 25th Infantry Division closed out Operation Lincoln in the Chu Phong Mountains and Ia Drang Valley area near the Cambodian border. The units reported no further contact with the North Vietnamese regiment that had been entrenched there. Since Operation Lincoln started March 25, the U.S. troops listed 450 enemy killed, 10 captured and 96 weapons seized.

Vietnam Civil Crisis Threatens War Effort, U. S. Status

Buddhis Pressure, Red Sudversion Harass Junta

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Two months ago this week President Johnson welcomed Premier Nguyen Cao Ky to their Honolulu conference. They pledged their best efforts to defeat the Communists in Viet Nam and give that nation's people a better life. Now the Ky government finds itself in a crisis which could change the outlook for both Vietnamese and Americans. What is behind it all? Here is an informative appraisal by two Assocated Press correspondents familiar with Vietnamese affairs since the days of Ngo Dinh Diem.)

By EDWIN G. WHITE and PETER ARNETT

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Four weeks of political unrest in Viet Nam's cities has brought a dangerous new crisis to this unstable country, threatening the war effort.

Ironically the political unrest has come as American arms have stabilized the war front and averted the outright defeat which seemed so imminent in 1965:

What has caused the outbreaks in the streets of Saigon, Da Nang and Hue? What do the Buddhists want? What do the students want? Are Communists behind the outbreaks? Why the anti-Americanism?

There is no one answer. If there were the problem might be more easily solvable.

Here are some factors:

The people involved in demonstrations represent a small fraction of the population, perhaps no more than 2 or 3 per cent, but the numbers do not control the danger. Fewer students and Buddhists have toppled earlier governments. Perhaps four-fifths of the population is apathetic, particularly in the countryside, but they also are war-weary to their bones after years of conflict. Even victories by government and American troops don't seem to encourage them. This leaves political leadership to others.

Perhaps most signiifcant and dangerous of all has been the appearance of South Vietnamese soldiers and civil servants among the demonstrators in Da Nang.

Undoubtedly Communist infiltrators have had a hand in the demonstrations. How much no one knows, but they would be ineffectual alone. Professional agitators have played a hand, as they have in every political coup in Saigon. Men like Le Quy Viet, who tells produly of arrests going back to 1945, and claims at 39 that he has at least 20 years of politicking ahead.

FR. HOANG QUYNH

PREMIER KY

The Buddhists and the students have been the main factors, as they have been in every coup in this country. What they want depends on what faction they belong to. Basically they want power, if not actual positions, then to be king makers.

Then there are skyrocketing prices and the natural resentment of any population against foreign troops who by local standards are rich, live better, and monopolize girls, bars and entertainment.

Finally there are the ruling generals who joust among themselves for power.

In this struggle for power, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky fired Lt. Gen. Nguygen Chanh Thi, commander of the 1st Corps. That precipitated the present crisis.

Ky acted to "unify" the generals' junta, U.S. officials said at the time. It had the opposite effect. Thi proved as powerful as many suspected. Within days of his ouster, rioting began in Hue and Da Nang and Ky was forced to permit Thi to return to the northern sector.

By firing Thi, Premier Ky exposed a crack in the ruling junta. This gave the opposition an opening. The balance of power within the junta is as delicate as a watchspring.

The issues now go far beyond a junta squabble. They affect the Western world's whole position here.

The Buddhists tasted power first in 1963 when they overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem.

They have been a force to be reckoned with ever since. Close observers believe they now want a government they can control.

Moderate and extremist wings of the Buddhist hierarchy appear to be divided over the timing.

"Moderate" is a comparative term to describe the Buddhist group headed by Thich Tam Chau, chairman of the Buddhist Institute in Saigon. He desires a civilian government eventually. There was a feeling that Tam Chau and his followers would be prepared to wait several months for the "political congress" Ky has proposed to determine a national constitution. After this, elections would be held, and the Buddhists feel they would win. Now Tam Chau wants elections in three months.

Extremists, headed by the mysterious Thich Tri Quang, want the government overthrown now and a civilian government formed.

Tri Quang has been credited with masterful planning in Hue and Da Nang.

When 18,000 people took to the streets of Hue in a protest march, that was one-third of the city's population. Tri Quang's Buddhists dominate officialdom in that old imperial capital, and the sallow, enigmatic monk obviously has support. U.S. officials believe the situation is worse now in Hue than in Da Nang.

GENERAL THI

The Buddhists have far less influence in Saigon than in Hue. But the sight of 10,000 people sitting quietly with upturned faces any evening at the Buddhist Institute, listening to their favorite Buddhist orator, impresses students of power politics. No other group can gather a large crowd so easily in Saigon.

The Buddhists have power also in the coastal cities of Nha Trang, Qui Nhon and Quang Ngai, because they have no competition.

Only the Viet Cong has the scope and the organizational ability to compete. The Vietnamese army keeps the Viet Cong out of the cities, leaving the Buddhists freedom of operation.

Civilian politicians discredited themselves early in 1965 when they deliberately collapsed a nonmilitary government because of political rivalries. The military had no choice but to take over again.

This does not dissuade the diehard politicians from trying. Political agitators were quickly on the scene after the ruling junta split with Thai's ouster.

A militant student organization was created in Saigon and politicians openly led demonstrations. The Buddhists provided the demonstrators and the politicians the leadership.

The Catholic role in the current crisis has been extremely low-keyed.

Father Hoang Quynh, a Catholic extremist, has issued several statements partly supporting the Buddhist demand for a civilian government. But Catholic influence in Da Nang and Hue is small.

Aside from the leaders, how far has the dissension spread among the army and the civil services?

As many as 2,000 soldiers at a time demonstrated on the streets of Da Nang against the government, almost all the troops in Da Nang at the time.

THICH TRI QUANG

THICH TAM CHAU

In Hue, the situation appears even more antigovernment.

Government offices turned over typewriters and paper to agitators for their pamphlets.

How much of the unrest is organized by the Communists?

The Communists have been building up a network in Viet Nam's towns and cities for years that could easily take advantage of unrest and turn it into political chaos. The Viet Cong and their backers have infiltrated all factions of Vietnamese life — the religious groups, the students, the government and the military. Broadcasts over Buddhist-dominated Radio Hue sound at times like copies of Radio Liberation, the voice of the Viet Cong.

The problem for Vietnamese authorities is: Where does a Buddhist, or agitator, or student end, and a Communist begin?

The anti-Americanism cropping up is not necessarily all Communist-inspired. The entry of more than 200,000 American troops into Viet Nam was bound to have repercussions among the public.

But U.S. officials did not expect to see it become manifest in such scenes as a mob burning a U.S. Army Jeep and the roughing up of a uniformed American soldier—two incidents that occurred in Saigon.

Most of the anti-Americanism seems to have been initially based on the political posture of the United States.

Banners read "Down with U.S. obstructionism," not "Yankee go home."

American servicemen have been remarkably well behaved in Viet Nam. But this is ignored by the mobs who joyfully seize on an issue, any issue, to aid their cause.

U.S. officials fear that anti-Americanism may become an accepted platform for opponents of government. This would play into the hands of those who would like to see some sort of exclusive settlement with the Viet Cong to end the war.

All sides claim they want peace in Viet Nam.

The question is what side will be in a position to bring that peace and what form will it take?

Will it be the United States and the Vietnamese central government, negotiating with the Communists from a position of strength?

Will it be the Buddhists, moving down a middle path confident they can curb the communistic influence of the Viet Cong?

Will it be a Saigon government installed by a coup, and hostile to the United States, that orders the American military presence out of the country before coming to terms with the Viet Cong?

Mobs in the streets, made up of various dissident groups, could bring any one of these alternatives—or chaos.

Transatlantic Fliers Protest Crowding

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atlantic air lanes to Europe are bustling, and planes are flying closer together. Pilots don't like it, but the government says it is perfectly safe.

The Federal Aviation Agency has called a hearing April 18 to hear the views of airlines, pilots and air traffic experts on how far apart planes should be spread to assure safe operations.

Meanwhile, pilots who request it are getting the same amount of elbow room across the Atlantic that they received in the past. This is a separation of 120 nautical miles (138 statute miles) from the nearest planes on either side of them at their altitude.

Other pilots, satisfied with the new, narrower air corridors, fly contentedly under the reduced separation standard of 90 nautical miles (103 statute miles).

For many years, in order to keep airplanes using the heavily traveled North Atlantic routes between Europe and North America from flying into each other, the International Civil Aviation Organization has channeled traffic during busy parts of the day into four 120-nautical-mile-wide corridors, side by side.

This four-lane skyway varies in location from day to day as air traffic controllers select the best combination of favorable winds, good weather and minimum distance for use by the airlines.

Planes flying in opposite directions are separated vertically by 1,000 feet at the lower altitudes, and by 2,000 feet above the preferred minimum cruising altitude of 29,000 feet.

Jets bound for Europe usually fly at 29,000, 33,000, 37,000 and 41,000 feet, depending on wind and weather conditions, and westbound planes stay at the intervening altitudes — 31,000, 35,000, or 39,000 feet.

When the traffic rush is at the day's peak, air traffic control may convert the busy route into a one-way highway across the Atlantic. Traffic moving in the opposite direction is put on a track across a different part of the North Atlantic.

The airliners also have long been separated from the planes moving ahead of or behind them in the same direction by 200 miles, or about 20 minutes in time.

But last June the nose-to-tail separation between jets moving in the same direction was cut to 150 miles, which would keep them about 15 minutes apart. The ICAO air traffic control organization also has been considering a cut in the minimum time between planes on converging or crossing paths from 30 minutes to 20 minutes.

While the volume of air traffic across the Atlantic has been increasing rapidly, officials decided the greater accuracy of navigational instruments on the planes and greatly improved radio and radar equipment had made it possible to reduce the amount of air space reserved for each plane.

Last Dec. 17 the 22-nation ICAO decided that side-by-side traffic separation could be reduced to 90 nautical miles. The new standard went into effect Jan. 13, over protests by the International Federation of Air Line Pilots Assn. They contended that this would be too narrow a track to allow for navigating errors. Nevertheless, the FAA applied the reduced separation as a mandatory standard Feb. 7.

An American pilots' group, the Air Line Pilots Assn. then asked the FAA for a public hearing. ALPA said the reduction was ordered to make room for more flights in spite of evidence that it would increase the risk of air collisions, and:

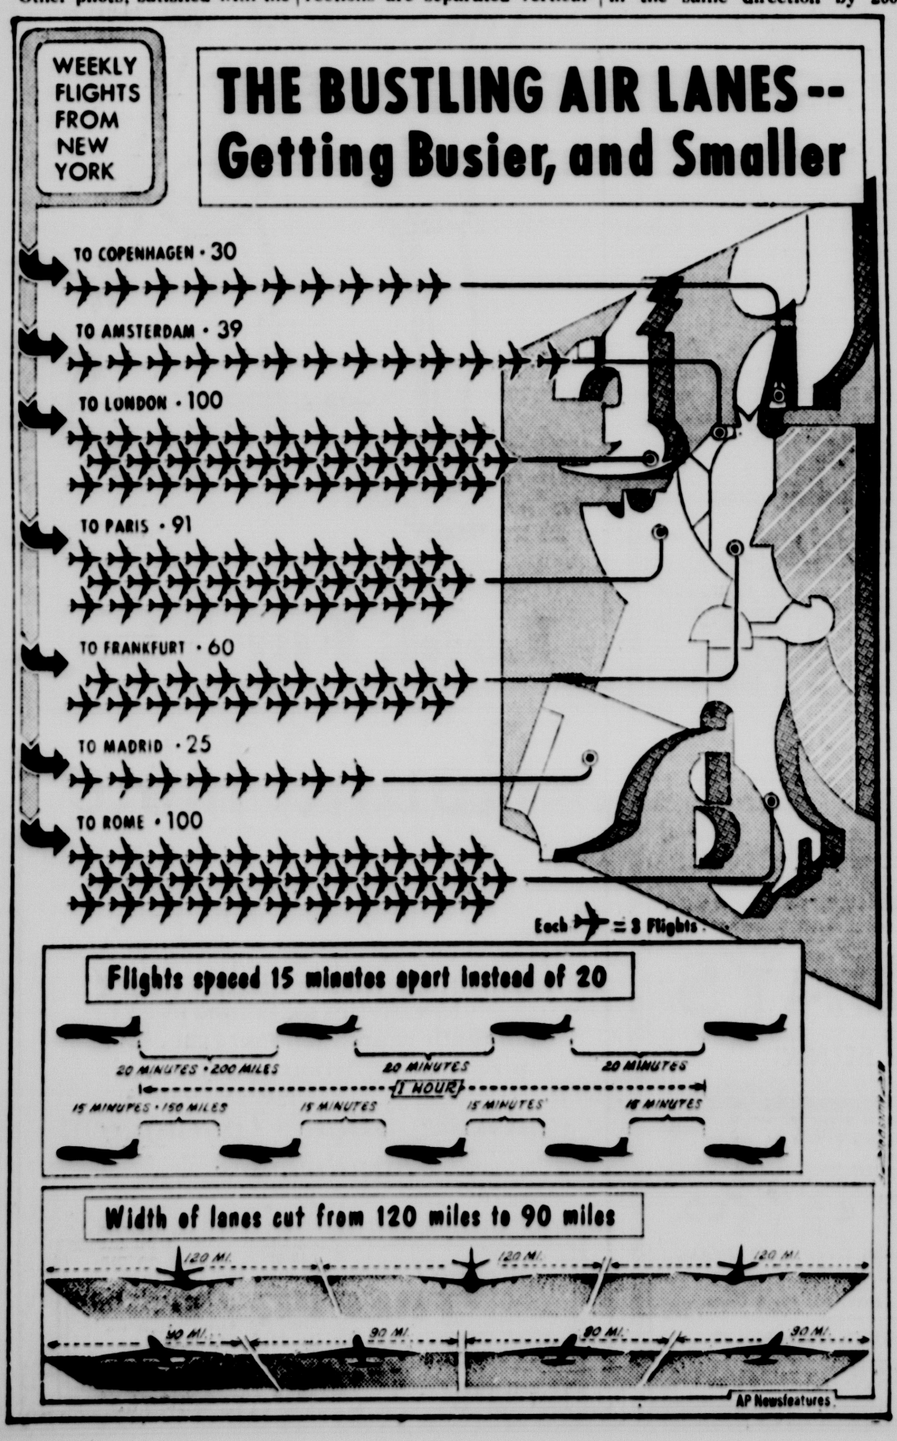
"Delay based upon economic or other irrelevant considerations could be tragic. Let us save lives by reversing tradition and hold a hearing before, not after, avoidable tragedy."

The FAA replied with a lengthy statement saying the new separation standard had been considered carefully and approved by representatives of 22 nations before being put into former standard was adopted when pilots flew the Atlantic effect. The agency said the by celestial navigation.

"Now with electronic navigation equipment, both airborne and surface, more precise naviagtion is possible," the FAA said.

"It is practical, therefore, to reduce the separation standard from 120 to 90 nautical miles. This separation standard is safe."

On March 15, the IFALPA, a federation of 47 airline pilot organizations around the world, called upon all pilots to request 120-mile separation from other traffic across the Atlantic. A week later, the FAA ordered its public hearing, now set for April 18.



This Week In The World

U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The festering political situation in South Viet Nam erupted again this week, triggered by a series of Buddhist-sponsored riots throughout the wartorn country.

Caught in the whirling vortex of the struggle is a young Buddhist monk named Thick Thien Minh.

Minh is the youth commissioner of the Buddhist National Institute of South Viet Nam. It was he who directed the student demonstrations aimed at undermining the military government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The articulate young Buddhist told UPI in an exclusive interview this week that the demonstrations were staged solely to convince the Ky regime that a return to civilian rule in South Viet Nam must take place as soon as possible.

There has been an increasingly anti-American stench to the demonstrations, but Minh insisted that the Buddhists recognize the United States as a staunch ally of South Viet Nam.

In the war against the Communists, American forces spent a busy week in two continuing ground operations. The U. S. Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division continued rooting out Communist concentrations in the Central Highlands as part of "Operation Lincoln," which has been credited with 439 Communist casualties to date. "Operation Fillmore," manned by the Army's 101st Airborne Division, has claimed 134 Communist dead.

Around The World, Around The Clock:

Moscow: The 23rd Soviet Communist party congress prepared to adjourn after rubber stamping the re-election of party chief Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin. The new list of politburo and central committee members was made official Friday: Notable by his absence from the committee list was the name of ousted Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla.: The annual rites of spring began for thousands of the nation's collegians as they flocked southward to enjoy their Easter vacations.

Berlin: A Soviet jet trainer plunged into a lake in the British sector of West Berlin Wednesday, killing the two men aboard.

Legislature Due A Special Session

SACRAMENTO—The California legislature wound up its regular budget session this week with a row of goose-eggs, and immediately was called into a special session to make another attempt at approving a budget.

The split between Republicans and Democrats in the assembly over how the budget is to be financed kept opposing lines tightly drawn. Republicans objected to the administration plans to avert a tax increase this year by financing the budget with a switch from a cash to an accrual accounting system for the state.

The conversation to accrual would make $250 million available for expenditure in 1966-67, in money due the state but not yet collected. The Republicans call this election-year gimmickry and have refused to budge from their positions of opposition.

AS THE NEW SESSION got underway, Gov. Brown submitted a new budget to both houses, up some $23 million from the earlier version. Both houses moved to put the budget back into the shape it was in their latest versions. There still has been on inter-house debate on the spending document over differences, primarily in the park purchase program, because of the stalemate over accrual.

THE LIST OF CANDIDATES for the primary election released by Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan earlier this year through use of a fully automated production system, showed 768 candidates seeking election to statewide, legislative, and congressional offices, including 456 Democrats and 332 Republicans.

Only one candidate for any of the offices received a "free ride." Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, has no opposition in either party. The unofficial list confirms 27 incumbent senators will be seeking election to 20 seats, with the other seats having no incumbents. In the Assembly there will be 29 "open seats" with no incumbents, due to retirement of members and assemblymen seeking other offices.

THE CALIFORNIA REPUBLICAN assembly, as no surprise, has given its overwhelming endorsement to Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for governor. The 600 delegates of the 11,300-member organization considered four candidates in giving the nod to Reagan. Other primary candidates endorsed by CRA included Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan; Ivy Baker Priest, who is unopposed for the GOP nomination for state treasurer; Robert H. Finch for lieutenant governor; Joseph L. Pace San Jose mayor, for state controller; and Spencer Williams, Santa Clara county counsel, for attorney general. Dick Darling, Riverside real estate man and banker, was elected new president of CRA.

TWO MAJOR ASSESSMENT bills cleared the Assembly last week and moved to the Senate.

They were AB80 and AB 89 by N. C. Petris, which would make extensive reforms in assessment of property and provide property tax refunds for persons over 65 with incomes of $3,000 or less. Other approvals included AB11-Porter, providing grant of $1.8 million to South Lake Tahoe area for sewage effluent exports works, passed by Assembly; AB86-Ryan, to correct a 1965 law error to continue salaries of certain city councilmen, final passage; and ACR1-Unruh, pledging $15 million for purchase of a site for an atom-smasher site near Sacramento, if the federal government locates it there, final approval.

AB40-Young, to provide free driver's license for persons over 65, was stalled in the Assembly. A new five-point program for motor vehicle smog control was introduced by Senator Joseph A. Rattigan, D-Santa Rosa. Governor Brown is impatient with the Assembly, where similar smog bills have not had their first hearing.

GRAPE GROWERS from the Delano area moved toward their destination of the state capitol, scheduled to be reached tomorrow.

20-YEAR-OLD controversy which has delayed construction of a southern crossing of the San Francisco Bay seemed headed toward settlement last week as the California Toll Bridge Authority adopted a route for the span from near Hunter's Point in San Francisco to two eastern termini, one in Alameda and the other in Bay Farm Island. The TBA authorized use of $10 million in design funds, if available.

APPOINTMENTS. Brown has announced the reappointment of Ralph B. Wright, Corona Del Mar, as a member of the Youth Authority Board, a $20,500 a year post; William H. Madden, Covina, four years on the California Adult Authority, at a similar salary.

UNEMPLOYMENT in California dropped to 4.9 per cent in March, Governor Brown reported.

from its funnel, the Viking Princess burns furiously in the Windward Passage off Cuba yesterday, while the last life boat pulls safely away. The vessel, still ablaze, was reported in tow today.

WEARY SKIPPER—Capt. Otto Thoreson of the Viking Princess was praised by passengers—and returned praise in Miami, Fla., for their calmness—today after superintending the escape of all but two of the 496 souls aboard. The two victims died of heart attacks during the excitement.

EMOTIONAL AFTERMATH—A sobbing young passenger from the Viking Princess (above) is comforted by her parents in Miami, Fla., today. The rescued passengers and crew were taken first to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, then flown to the mainland. Another Miami reconciliation found a sister who stayed behind (below right), embracing her sister who survived the sea inferno.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

New Understanding Offers More Hope For Cirrhosis Of Liver

VAN DELLEN

Alcoholic cirrhosis is a serious liver condition and the fourth most common cause of death among males under age 40. Until recently very little could be done to correct the disturbance or to treat the complications which include hemorrhage from the upper part of the stomach, distention of the abdomen with fluid, and coma. Something can now be done for all of these.

THE LIVER, a huge vascular sponge, is the body's largest organ. It performs about 70 vital functions of which six or more are needed for survival. The organ enlarges initially due to fatty deposits. When the individual continues to drink and eats poorly, the structure shrinks and hardens. Trouble begins when blood circulation through the organ is blocked.

The portal veins drain blood from the digestive tract and bring it to the liver where it is filtered through a maze of passageways. The network reconnects into a single vessel that carries filtered blood to the heart. The blockage of the portal systems contributes to the development of ascites and, in the past, there was little to do except to remove (tap) the fluid periodically to relieve the pressure in the greatly distended abdomen.

A salt-free diet, diuretics, spironolatone, albumin infusions, and the corticosteroids help to control the fluid. An operation to bypass the liver also is available.

Meanwhile the body tries to re-route blood around the liver by enlarging certain vessels near the entrance of the stomach. There esophageal veins become varicosed and rupture when irritated by food and acid. Bleeding occurs in more than half of those with varicosities and one-third die from sanquination. Today many are saved by vessel ligation.

A POTENTIAL remedy was recently suggested when it was found that lymph flow also is impeded and by venting the thoracic duct or enlarging its connection with a vein in the neck, the liver becomes smaller, followed by disappearance of ascites, and cessation of bleeding from varices. This is an important breakthrough.

ARTHRITIC KNEES

M. D. writes: Is it wise to exercise arthritic joints when one can hear a dry, clicking sound in the knees?

REPLY

Not when they click, swell or become painful.

CLOSING OFF TUBES

Mrs. D. C. writes: Can the tubes be untied once they have been tied?

REPLY

Theoretically, yes, but the procedure is difficult and the results are so uncertain that most gynecologists do not consider it practical.

Pleasure Cruise Fire Toll Set At Two Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A freighter today put a towline aboard the Viking Princess, fire-blackened but still afloat off southeastern Cuba after the stirring rescue of all but two of the 496 persons aboard.

The Coast Guard said the flame-swept luxury cruise ship was still burning but the Liberian cargo vessel Navigator reported it had the craft under control.

It was not determined at once where the Navigator intended to tow the hulk.

Viking Princess Capt. Otto Thoresen, 52, praised his passengers for orderly behavior in abandoning ship, and men and women who reached safety via rescue vessels paid tribute to the ship's crew and those who came to their aid.

"Every last one of the passengers has been accounted for," said a spokesman for the Flagship Lines Agency, operators of the ship, and none was missing.

Earlier, the Navy said 484 persons were rescued and 11 were missing.

Some passengers said the 536-foot Norwegian vessel had been plagued by engine trouble through much of the seven-day Caribbean cruise. The Good Friday fire apparently started in the engine room shortly after midnight and swept quickly through the ship.

The captain, Otto Thoresen, a 52-year-old Norwegian who has spent 37 years at sea, praised the passengers who were picked up after less than an hour in lifeboats by three rescue ships and taken to the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. They were later flown to Miami by chartered plane.

"They were as quiet as women and children in church before a prayer," he said. "I do not know why they behaved so wonderfully."

Mrs. Moses Goodman of Surfside, Fla., who was aboard with her husband, a retired Navy commander, returned the compliment. "We had the best captain and crew in the world," she said. "The captain was fast and quick and the crew was marvelous."

Fire struck the Viking Princess, a gleaming white $16-million ship built in 1950, as she steamed for Miami yesterday through the Windward Passage between Cuba and Haiti.

Her lights glistened on the gentle swells in the post-midnight blackness. Below, in the ship's night club about 30 passengers welcomed the first hours of Good Friday and the last day aboard with a masquerade party.

Norman K. Schwarz, 39, a Miami Beach attorney, was dancing in the club with his wife at about 1 a.m. when "all of a sudden the lights and air conditioning went out."

Schwarz, a tall, husky man, and his wife, Rachel, shrugged it off — it had happened before on the cruise — but then smoke began seeping under the night club door.

Schwarz and his wife spotted crewmen wearing lifejackets and decided to get out of their costumes. They changed clothes, picked up a radio and a box of candy and went to their muster stations.

Capt. Thoresen, a heavy-set man with a handlebar moustache, spoke to the passengers through a bull horn.

"Women and children first," was the order. "We are continuing to fight the blaze. We have people with gas masks and smoke masks crawling through the passages making sure everyone is off."

The first lifeboat was in the water 15 minutes after the alarm, the last ones in an hour.

Thoresen said he and 13 crewmen stayed until they were sure no one was left.

"I got myself and my crew down the ladder and into the raft," he said. "We sort of congratulated ourselves. We were very satisfied."

It was less than two hours after the fire started.

Thoresen was applauded by some of the passengers when he reached Guantanamo.

The two known victims apparently died of heart attacks. Witnesses said Peter Brooks, 58, of Miami Beach suffered a seizure and died despite efforts to revive him. Mrs. Harold Leen of Miami Beach died of an apparent heart attack in a lifeboat.

The near tragedy revived memories of the Yarmouth Castle, a 38-year-old cruise ship that burned and sank Nov. 13, 60 miles east of Miami in the Bahamas with a loss of 90 lives.

In Washington, Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee, said that the 16-year-old Viking Princess was as vulnerable to fire as the older Yarmouth Castle.

He added: "The United States must press for drastic revision in the (1960 International Safety of Life at Sea Convention) treaty at the May 2 international meeting in London and I intend to ask that the Senate make a specific recommendation to our State Department on this matter."

Marin Navy Men Win Viet Service Medal

Two Navy men from Marin have been awarded the Viet Nam Service Medal for service aboard the carrier Ranger, now on her second cruise to the Viet Nam war zone.

The medals were awarded to Aviation Electronics Technician 2 c Dana T. Reagan, son of Mrs. Annie M. Reagan of 876 Las Pavados Avenue, San Rafael, and Fireman Nathan L. Lester IV, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Lester of Woodacre.

Academy Pupils To Get New Room

Starting in September, all seventh and eighth grade classes at San Rafael Military Academy will be held in the newly acquired Marin Jewish Community Center building adjacent to the academy at 1613 Mission Avenue.

Don Presco and George Livermore are in charge of redecorating and remodeling the center for the academy, which will take possession of the building June 30.

Howard Good, president of the board of directors, said seventh and eighth grade boys will use the regular academy grounds only for athletic and social events. The junior high classes will have their own intramural sports program for the first time, starting with the fall semester, he announced.

Good said 60 to 70 boys are expected to use the 12 classrooms of the new center. The center also has a large auditorium.

Today is Saturday April 9, the 99th day of 1966 with 266 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning star is Venus; the evening star is Jupiter.

American artist Charles Burchfield was born on this day in 1893.

On this day in history:

In 1865, Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered to Gen. Ulysses S. Grant at Appomattox Court House in Virginia.

In 1940, Germany invaded both Norway and denmark.

In 1942, Bataan fell to the Japanese in World War II after three months of heroic fighting.

In 1963, the nuclear submarine "Thresher" went down 220 miles east of Boston with 129 men aboard.

A thought for the day — President Andrew Jackson said: "There are no necessary evils in government. Its evils exist only in its abuses."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Singleton Lead May Provide Costly Help To Opposition

The advantage of leading a singleton is that you may ruff one of declarer's tricks before he can draw your trumps.

The disadvantage is that your lead may tell declarer how to play the suit.

South deals.

West's lead of the nine of diamonds is cited as a horrible example in Dorothy Hayden's fine new book "Bid Better, Play Better."

Don't lead a singleton against a slam when you have the ace of trumps, Mrs. Hayden advises.

WHAT HAPPENS

In this case declarer puts up dummy's jack of diamonds.

East covers with the king, and South wins.

South leads trumps, and West takes the ace.

No matter what West returns, South can draw trumps and then lead the eight of diamonds from dummy. The nature of the lead is quite clear, of course.

East covers with the ten of diamonds, but South wins with the queen and returns to dummy to lead another diamond through East.

BETTER LEAD

If West leads any suit but diamonds South would never dream of starting the diamonds by leading dummy's jack.

This is, however, the only way that South can avoid the loss of a diamond trick—as the cards lie.

By all means lead a singleton against a slam when you have no ace in your hand.

Your lead will gain when your partner has the ace of your singleton suit or the ace of trumps.

There is no such advantage when you have an ace in your own hand.

Then you need no ruff if your partner has an ace or any other trick. On the theory that your short suit is likely to be declarer's long side suit, avoid leading anything that will give declarer a finessing advantage.

Venezuela Discovered By Chris Columbus

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Venezuela was discovered in 1498 by Christopher Columbus when he landed on its shores during his third trip to the "West Indies."

The name Venezuela appeared for the first time on a world map drawn in 1500 by Juan de la Cosa, a Spanish cartographer who accompanied Columbus on that trip.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

EDITORIAL PAGE Sat., April 9, 1966 San Rafael, Calif. 15

The Editor's Notebook

Prompt Action May Link Neighborhoods, Highway

A CAREFUL STUDY of the map of the most densely populated areas in Marin is an eye-opener.

San Rafael's Sun Valley area, for instance, is sandwiched between Los Ranchitos (north of Puerto Suello Hill, off Highway 101) and San Anselmo's Sunnyhills property.

Because there are no direct roads up and over the ridges that separate adjacent areas, they seem widely separated; it is a long, long drive from Los Ranchitos to Sun Valley via existing highways. The map distance is only a few blocks.

The upper areas of Terra Linda lie quite close to some upper areas of Sleepy Hollow. On the map Fairfax's Oak Manor subdivision adjoins Sleepy Hollow, is quite close to Terra Linda and isn't very far from the newest Eichler tract in Lucas Valley. But there are no direct road connections so the auto travel distance between these close neighbors is considerable.

It is NOT a compliment to all the tax-supported planning activities of the past quarter of a century and more that development has taken place this way. Instead of dispersing traffic, the result has been to congest our relatively few through routes.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO the county's first master plan for streets and highways foresaw this and indicated what would be needed. Unfortunately, much of the forecasting was ignored. Now we are paying the price in ever increasing congestion on our main routes.

It is possible that the State Division of Highways could locate its proposed east-west Marin route so as to help relieve the situation in which we find ourselves.

Supervisor Kettenhofen has advocated an east-west route which would leave Highway 101 somewhere near the Civic Center and run mostly along ridge tops to the west, connecting with Sir Francis Drake Boulevard perhaps at White's Hill.

When Kettenhofen first suggested this route, some viewed it as simple political evasion of the opposition that already has manifested itself toward improvement and expansion of existing routes.

At first, Kettenhofen's idea wasn't taken very seriously.

WHEN CIVIC LEADERS get together (as they did one morning this week at the behest of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce) to ponder how to go about developing a road connecting Terra Linda directly with San Anselmo and Fairfax, the need and advantage of the new ridge route for the east-west artery becomes apparent.

It is conceivable that the east-west ridge route could, by a series of lateral service roads, receive and discharge traffic into Sun Valley, San Anselmo's San Francisco Boulevard, Sleepy Hollow, Terra Linda, Fairfax's Oak Manor, as well as Lucas Valley.

It could relieve congestion on Sir Francis Drake. It could be the means of developing more direct routes between each of these areas which now lie quite close together on the map but are isolated insofar as auto travel among them is concerned.

AT THIS WEEK'S San Rafael Chamber meeting, Walter Freitas suggested the possibility of a joint study of the interconnecting roads by the county and the cities of San Rafael, San Anselmo and, perhaps, Fairfax.

His suggestion was sidetracked. Some voiced the opinion that nothing definite could be done until the State routing is definitely determined.

San Anselmo city manager Doug Flautt had a word of caution about delay.

If the state determines the route first, when the county or any cities thereafter ask for access interchanges, they will be expected to contribute heavily to the cost of their construction. If the county and the cities adopt their routes first, then the state would be in the position of having to provide interchanges without major financial contribution from the county or the cities, Flautt observed.

MANY CAME AWAY FROM the San Rafael Chamber's discussion session with the idea that the best interests of Marin would be served by following Walter Freitas' suggestion for immediate joint planning to provide Marin's much needed inter-community connections. If the state then goes ahead with the Kettenhofen east-west ridge route development, the state will be obliged to provide needed lateral connections, service roads, overpasses and interchanges—without demanding full local financial contribution otward the cost.

In this very column last January, it was observed:

Marin's divergent elements have got to agree on one of these (east-west) routes and give the green light to the Highway Commission and the State Division of Highways. We cannot afford further delays.

That advice is as good today as it was three months ago.

It is to be hoped that the Chamber's leadership in public discussion of the need for improving inter-community traffic flow leads to full consideration of the ridgeline route which Supervisor Kettenhofen has advocated.

THE CHOICE OF EASTER

Amid the chaos of post-war Europe, Francois Mauriac, the French author, made this hopeful statement:

"In spite of all the crimes committed, in spite of all the bloodshed and blinding tears, we are gradually approaching the day of all days when mankind, risen and glorious, will behold the sight of the Son of God."

It was faith in the resurrection of Christ that sustained such an attitude in a man like Mauriac.

Actually, everything stands or falls on the resurrection of Jesus from the dead.

If it were not a fact, then the greatest story ever told ended in a barren tomb.

If it is a fact, then death was overcome by life and no price is too great to pay for the privilege of dying with Christ that we may live with Him.

If it were not so, then the apostles and martyrs through the ages gave their lives in vain.

If it is so, then it means the possibility of forgiveness even for the most violent persecutor.

"Thus it is written: and thus the Christ should suffer, and should rise again from the dead on the third day." (Luke 24:46)

Strengthen me, O Holy Spirit, to share the joy of the risen Savior with everyone I can reach.

Supervisor Explains Survivor Clause

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I want to thank you for the flattering editorial comments which appeared in the Independent-Journal of Thursday, March 31, 1966, concerning my efforts involving the county employees retirement program.

Your editorial was particularly appreciated since these kinds of negotiations are usually of such a nature that most people pay little or no attention to them, and it was gratifying to have our activities noticed and applauded.

I would like to add one point to your comments, to make certain that Marin residents realize that the "surviving spouse" clause, if changed in the retirement program would be voluntary, not mandatory, but would not be eliminated. Those county employees who so desire may still have their surviving spouses or anyone else they select benefit from the retirement program.

Survivor Clause For County Employees

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Exception must be taken to statements attributed to Supervisor Kettenhofen and comments added by your staff writer, in your editorial "Kettenhofen offers way to save taxpayers cash," that appeared in your newspaper March 31.

Your statement the "obscure clause" dealing with surviving spouse benefits and which has "uncovered the possibility of substantial savings of public funds" is a thoroughly misleading statement and does an injustice to members of the Board of Supervisors who were in office at that time, and who recognized the responsibility of providing some measure of security to the surviving spouse of a county employee.

It is difficult to conceive of any great effort on Supervisor Kettenhofen's part to uncover this clause, as it is written in plain and simple language in the retirement plan and readily available for anyone interested. Simply, it provides upon the death of a pensioner, 60 per cent of the deceased's retirement allowance to the surviving spouse, for the remainder of his or her life whichever the case may be.

To say this does not seem equitable to employees who may be single or divorced, as they derive no benefit from this clause, is to follow the same line of reasoning as to say, a taxpayer whose taxes contribute to the support of a fire department, is in a similar position because his home was never on fire. This is a protective clause, relieving the employee after years of county service, the worry and anxiety of the surviving spouse's means of support. Far better this, than having an aging spouse added to the county relief rolls. It is extremely doubtful if any single employee feels this clause inequitable and, certainly no such complaint has ever come to the attention of the Retirement Board.

The county contributes 11.71 per cent of the county payroll to the retirement plan, while an employee contributes anywhere from a low of 4.91 per cent, to a high of 11.9 per cent depending upon age when entering county service. The Marin County Employees Retiring Plan is relatively new as far as retirement plans go, and is reviewed by the actuary every five years. The result has been generally a reduction in the county's contribution rate.

Your statement, "any change in the survivor clause would not affect present employees" is true as this is now law enacted by the state legislature. The only result of Supervisor Kettenhofen's suggestion eliminating the clause for future employees would be to set up two classes of employees, namely those who would receive the benefit of the survivors clause, and those who would not, and to lay a foundation of resentment and dissatisfaction on the part of all future employees. It might be well to point out at this time, that when the fixed formula plan was offered the Board of Supervisors in 1963, two plans were suggested, one by the Retirement Board and the other by the County Administrator. Both plans included the survivor clause.

It is difficult to coincide the facts as they exist, with the statement "immediate savings of $100,000 per year would be effected and eventually one of $300,000 if this clause were eliminated for future employees." As $136,000 of the county's yearly contribution goes to cover this clause, it takes only elementary arithmetic to verify that to effect such a savings it would be necessary to increase the county payroll by more than two thirds. On the face of it, the $300,000 figure requires no comment. The only other area in which a savings is possible is to have present employees leave county service and be replaced by new employees who would not receive the benefit of the survivors clause.

The members of the Retirement Board recognize they have a responsibility not only to county employees, but to the taxpayer as well. On occasions the Board has returned substantial monies from reserve funds when these exceeded requirements of prudent management. This has the effect of reducing future county contributions. Also I might add, that at Supervisor Kettenhofen's insistence, the Board took up the question of the surviving spouse clause for future employees at its last meeting, and voted unanimously to recommend to the legislature a change in the law deleting this clause for future employees. As for my part, as well as several other members of the Board, this was a hasty and ill-conceived decision. It is the intention of these members of the Board to open this subject again at our next regular meeting.

If you commend the Supervisor as you did in your editorial for "taking the time and effort to bring to the public scrutiny such matters which can redound to the taxpayer's benefit," might you not also suggest to the Supervisor that he concentrate his efforts in areas where the results would be far more fruitful and beneficial to the taxpayer, than trying to elminate a fringe benefit of the county employee.

Red Congress Broods, Worries Over Freedom Versus Discipline

WASHINGTON—A brooding uneasiness marks the mood of the 23rd Soviet Party Congress now drawing to a close in Moscow.

None of the Kremlin officials chose to say explicitly what their major worries really are. But from the tone and recurring subject matter of nearly all speeches, it is evident that the Soviets are deeply distressed:

BECAUSE the Communist economy can't seem to produce both guns and butter and because farm output remains perilously low.

Because the influence of Moscow over the foreign Communist parties even in Eastern Europe is steadily declining.

Because the Kremlin sees no safe end to the rising demand of Soviet youth, of the artists and intellectuals, and of the skilled administrators for more freedom of expression, for a larger voice in policy-making and for fewer restraints.

Of these three, the greatest was the worry over the mounting pressure for more freedom. This anxiety found some place — often a shrill place — in nearly every speech. In the end the uncertain question mark remained: how far will the Kremlin go, how far can it go, to restore some of the tighter discipline of the Stalin years?

THIS IS Moscow's most delicate and painful dilemma: How to keep enough freedom to make a modern industrial society work and how to prevent so much freedom that the top officials of the party lose control.

In appraising this Soviet dilemma, we must keep in mind that communism is a totalitarian system of government which has no intention of becoming a democratic system. It describes itself as the "dictatorship" of the proletariat and it has no wish for the proletariat to take over that dictatorship — if it can be helped.

The difficulty of performing this balancing act of narrowing the boundaries of freedom disaffection was evident in the oratory and the decisions of the party congress.

It was announced that automatic rotation in the higher positions of the party will no longer prevail. This means that "safe" officials can hold their jobs indefinitely and the party won't run the risk of rotation bringing in "unsafe" officials.

IT WAS announced that the Soviet Communist party will cut back its membership. It was getting too unwieldy, too hard to control. Joining is to be made more difficult and removal is to be made easier so that independent elements do not become too strong.

Forty-nine years after the 1917 revolution N. G. Yegorychev informed the congress that the Soviet people are still "poorly steeled politically" and that Russian youth is becoming "acutely skeptical." He called on all Russian writers to come to the aid of the party — or else.

The "or else" was not explicitly spelled out. But Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev lashed out at the artists for not "rallying to the defense of the people," which means not rallying to the defense of the party.

The greatest contradiction in Soviet society is emerging. This is the contradiction between the policy of relatively open discussion in science, economics, and sociology — needed to make the system work — and new clamps on freedom of political and literary expression which the Kremlin feels are needed to keep the party in control.

BUT WILL limited repression work? Won't the Kremlin have to go back to a lot more Stalinism or yield more freedom?

Another Long, Hot Summer In Offing?

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.

The summer of 1964 was marred by the din of gunfire and rioting in the ghettos of some of our largest northern cities. The summer of 1965 was shattered by the explosion of pent-up rage and frustration that was Watts. Last month more violence came to the Watts area. Was this a harbinger of things to come? Will the summer of 1966 also go down in history as a time of death and destruction; as a symbol of the failure of the races to live together in peace?

I FEVERENTLY pray that this does not come to pass, but there is every indication that the warnings signalled by previous outbursts have not been properly understood by political and community leaders, and even where there is some understanding, there is little sense of the urgency of the situation or willingness to take the necessary massive steps to alleviate conditions. An example of this is the now-famous McCone report on the Watts riots of 1965, which takes on a new relevance in light of last month's incident.

The McCone commission was made up of some of the most distinguished citizens of Los Angeles under the leadership of the former director of the CIA. Although it called for a new "revolutionary attitude towards the problems of the city" and recognized the need for "costly programs" it offered the same tired solutions for these problems.

1. The report ignores the bitterness and resentment of past abuses of police pow and does not comment on t role of the chief of police wi made inflammatory stat ments on television at t height of the riots. He referr to Watts residents as "mo keys in a zoo" and said "w are on top and they are on t bottom." Other statemen made clear to them that, the eyes of the police, th were caged animals.

2. Only in passing does t report mention the politic atmosphere behind the riotin —the inept political feudi which held up allocation needed anti-poverty funds, the overwhelming success Proposition 14 at the previo election. This repealed Califo nia's fair housing law, sayi in effect, "Negroes must li in segregated housing."

3. The report makes a b point of the unpreparedness Negro migrants from t South for city living. There no understanding that the bu den of adjustment to a stran way of life is also on the loc authorities; for training, f education, for housing, f jobs.

4. There is no mention the brutal discrimination whi led them to come to L Angeles, the promised la that failed them.

5. The report says the migrants came to share in t "generosity of California welfare program," ignori the fact that the state has one-year residency requir ment.

6. The report condemns th summer's non-violent demo strations as provocative. Sin these were orderly protes against intolerable condition it tells people to suffer wron silently. The real provocatio were the series of crim against civil rights workers the South that summer.

7. The report calls up Negroes to "shoulder a f share of the responsibility f his own well-being" and ca upon Negro leaders to "exhc their followers to this en "Exhortation "won't brir about this responsibility, or immediate jobs and econom reform in Watts will.

NEXT WEEK I will discu what I think should be do to avert further tragedy.

Atlanta and Anaheim are big league, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale are filthy rich and Mickey Mantle still is a $100,000 pinch hitter as the baseball season opens.

If the weather man behaves Monday and Tuesday the two-day program in 10 cities should attract about 320,000 curious fans. The largest turnout, 50,983, is expected to jam Atlanta's new stadium for the Braves' debut against Pittsburgh Tuesday night.

When Koufax and Drysdale finally agreed to let Walter O'Malley keep Chavez Ravine and signed for $240,000, the Las Vegas odds-makers quickly shuffled the morning line to re-establish the Los Angeles Dodgers as favorites in the National League. They can't agree on the American League race, making the defending champion Minnesota Twins and the Baltimore Orioles the co-favorites.

Six new or slightly used managers will be arguing with umpires, matching brain waves and juggling talent. Casey Stengel, safe in the Hall of Fame, will be home in California scouting the league for the New York Mets.

Leo Durocher is back after 11 years as a coach, television star and bon vivant, and resumes his managerial career with the Cubs in Chicago where his crosstown rival will be Eddie Stanky, an old sidekick who has succeeded Al Lopez with the White Sox.

Alvin Dark, another of Leo's boys with the New York Giants, is the new boss at Kansas City and Wes Westrum, another member of the club, has moved up from acting manager to official manager of the Mets.

Don Heffner, a minor league manager for years and more recently a coach of the Mets under Stengel, is the new skipper at Cincinnati and Grady Hatton has taken over in the dome at Houston.

The map of baseball constantly is being redrawn. This year is no exception. The restless Braves, forced to remain in Milwaukee a year longer than they wanted, finally will open in Atlanta after a long legal battle. The California Angels, known previous as the Los Angeles Angels, are moving into their new park at Anaheim, a whoop and a holler from Disneyland.

St. Louis also will have a new park ready in mid-May but the Cardinals will open in old Busch Stadium and play their first 11 home games in that ancient arena with its handy right field pavilion.

Ford Frick has left the scene and William D. Eckert, a retired Air Force general, has taken his place as commissioner. Eckert spent the spring in Florida, warming up for many opening day ceremonies.

Mantle, still unable to throw after undergoing surgery on his right shoulder during the winter, is strictly a pinch hitter with the Yankees but other ailing members of the cast appear to have made comebacks.

Robin Roberts, carried as a Houston coach on the winter roster, has found his arm so strong that he will be the opening day pitcher for the Astros. Roger Maris is swinging the bat again for the Yanks after missing most of 1965. Pittsburgh's Vern Law appears to be sound again but the Yanks' Jim Bouton has been having problems finding his fast ball. Al Kaline of Detroit is feeling frisky after an operation on his foot.

The rookie crop appears about average. Houston is high on shortstop Sonny Jackson and the Yanks think they have found help in outfielder Roy White, shortstop Bobby Murcer and pitcher Fritz Peterson.

Cincinnati likes Tommy Helms so much that the Reds have revised their infield, moving All-Star second baseman

Franks Just Not Smart Enough To Predict Outcome Of N. L.

HANLEY

"It's tough and I mean tough," said Herman Franks when asked to size up the 1966 National League pennant race. "But that's nothing new in this league. It's been that way as long as I can remember."

The manager of the Giants who came very close to winning a pennant in his rookie try at major league managing last season looked horrified when asked to pick this year's pennant winner.

"I wouldn't think of trying to predict the outcome," he said. "It depends on so many factors, such as the always present threat of injuries, not to mention the blanket you can throw over half a dozen teams."

Franks didn't name the half dozen teams but there was no doubt that he had in mind his own Giants, the Dodgers, Reds, Pirates, Braves, Phillies. The betting gentry in Las Vegas had similar ideas about the top contenders.

THE LATEST Las Vegas odds made the Dodgers 2½ to 1 favorites to become the first NL pennant repeater since 1958. The Giants were posted at 3-1, the Reds 5-1, Pirates 6-1 and Braves and Phillies at 8-1. In the past month the Pirates have been sharply upgraded from 20-1. A year ago the Pirates were relegated to a No. 7 finish in the pre-season picks and they closed a strong No. 3 after being in the cellar, 11 games off the pace, after the first month of the 1965 campaign.

THIS YEAR the Cardinals have been eliminated by all crystal ball gazers before the start of the campaign. Even Las Vegas is willing to give 15-1 against the Cardinals who have been picked by many to finish 1966behind the Cubs. Some have even put the Cardinals No. 9.

While Franks refused to predict the probable finish of the front runners, he readily acknowledged that he expected his Giants to be in contention from start to finish.

"CERTAINLY I expect our Giants to be knocking on the pennant door again," he said. "I hope we get it open this time but as for making any flat prediction about our team or any other club I'm just not that smart."

Didn't Franks have at least one mild prediction for the 1966 campaign?

"Yes," he said. "I'll make one. Look for the Cubs to move up a notch or two this year under that new manager (Leo Durocher)."

AND WHAT about this columnist's fearless picks? For what they're worth, the 1966 National League race will end this way:

San Francisco, Cincinnati, Atlanta, Los Angeles, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Houston, New York.

Rout L. A. In Home Finale

The red-hot San Francisco Seals continued their winning ways last night by rampaging past the Los Angeles Blades 8-0 and hanging onto their hopes for a Western Hockey League playoff position.

The fourth-place Seals kept their one-point edge on Seattle even though the Totems beat Victoria 7-3. In their last 17 games, the Seals have a 12-2-3 record.

The Seals' last game is tonight in Los Angeles against the last place Blades. Seattle has two games left, home and home against league-leading Portland. If the Seals win tonight and the Totems lose one of their last two games, San Francisco will make the playoffs.

In the Cow Palace contest, defenseman Tom Thurlby and wing Al Nicholson each scored two goals. Rookie goalie Joe Daley stopped 19 shots and earned his second shutout in three games.

The Seals got a 3-0 lead in the first two periods through the efforts of Tom Thurlby, Ron Schock and Del Topoll. In the last frame, Thurlby, Mike Harvey, Ron Harris and two goals by Nicholson sent the Seals further past the faltering Blades.

It was San Francisco's last game—except for possible playoff games—in the Cow Palace. Next season they will play in the Oakland Coliseum.

The regular home season finale was seen by 8,562 fans, the season's largest crowd.

First period—1, San Francisco, Thurlby (Burns, Connelly) 8:49. 2, San Francisco, Schock (Connelly, Topoll) 19:34. Penalties—Bedard LA 7:36; Wilson LA 12:02; Odrowski SF 16:19.
Second period—3, SF Topoll (Schock, Harris) 9:45. Penalties—none.

BERKELEY (AP) — California rapped Stanford 6-1 yesterday in the first game of the year between the California Intercollegiate Baseball Assn.

A four-run second inning by California broke the game wide open.

The tallies were collected on a one-run triple by winning pitcher Andy Messersmith, a two-run triple by second baseman Bob Leatherwood and a one-run single by catcher Ted Parks.

Stanford's big guns were shortstop Frank Duffy who got four for five and relief pitcher Daro Quiring, who went three for four.

Messersmith and Parks each got three hits in four times at bat.

Giants Help Open Anaheim Stadium

ANAHEIM (AP) — The San Francisco Giants helped the California Angels dedicate their new Anaheim Stadium today while Manager Herman Franks cogitated on his opening day batting order for Candlestick Park next Tuesday.

Most of the positions are indeed set and Juan Marichal can be expected on the pitchers' mound facing the Chicago Cubs and ex-Giant Ernie Broglio.

Hal Lanier, object of an intensive batting education this spring, probably will lead off and there's no doubt he'll be playing second base.

IN LIVING COLOR
Tomorrow's Giant-Angel game will be televised in color by KTVU, Channel 2, starting at 12:55 p.m.

Willie Mays, the team captain, holds down his accustomed spots in centerfield and third in the batting order. Willie McCovey goes at first base and bats cleanup.

Jim Hart holds down third on the field and fifth in the order and catcher Tom Haller will be in the No. 7 spot.

An improved Tito Fuentes appears to have beaten out Dick Schofield at shortstop, but his position in the batting order depends on other factors, notably the left and right field positions.

In left, the choice is between Orlando Cepeda and Len Gabrielson. In right, it's either Jesus Alou or rookie Ollie Brown.

Cepeda, out most of last year with a bum knee, exhibited his pre-injury hitting prowess this spring but lacks finesse in the field. Gabrielson, who hit .302 with the Giants after being traded from Chicago's Cubs, could be the choice against the right-handed Broglio.

A sore arm has hampered Alou all spring and Brown has hit with authority—to compound Franks' dilemma.

The manager decided he wants a little more time to work out his lineup. Should Gabrielson play, he'd probably bat second, but Cepeda would be farther down in the order.

New Raider Coach To Emulate Davis

OAKLAND (AP) — John Rauch has a lot of details to iron out as new head coach of the Oakland Raiders but he's sure of one thing—the American Football League team will keep right on playing "the Coach Davis type of football."

Al Davis, Raider coach and general manager since 1963, was named AFL commissioner yesterday, succeeding Joe Foss, and Rauch, Davis' offensive backfield coach the past three seasons, was moved to the head coach spot by Raider owner Wayne Valley.

The chores of general manager were assigned to Scotty Stirling, formerly the team publicist.

Rauch and Stirling were to confer late today on details of the changeover.

Rauch, former star quarterback at Georgia, says assistant coaches Tom Dahms, Ollie Spencer and Charlie Sumner are going to stay with him.

"I think our offense and defense have been more than adequate the past three seasons and since we all are sold on the Davis system and have had such excellent training in it, I think this is the system we are best equipped to teach our squad."

"I'm going to name an assistant to take my place," Rauch said. "He'll be an offensive coach and I have several names in mind, but I'm going to take my time before making any decision."

Rauch said he plans to do much of the offensive coaching himself, even though his assistant will be trained on offense. "I don't plan to make many changes in the offense," he said. "We know it works."

Of the Raider defense he said, "It's been outstanding and there again I don't see it's necessary to make any changes in our basic style."

Rauch, 38, is regarded by many as the finest passer ever to play for the University of Georgia. He played for the Bulldogs in four bowl games, 1945 through 1948. Before joining the Raiders he served on collegiate coaching staffs at Florida, Tulane, Georgia and the United States Military Academy.

"I realize I have a big job ahead of me," Rauch said. "It's not easy to follow in the footsteps of a man such as Al Davis. There are very few men in our country who possess his fine qualities and abilities."

Whistling Winds Hit Favorites

By RON SPEER

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — This could be the first Masters title taken by an outsider since 1946 if the winds continue to whistle over Augusta National's trying layout.

Two of the entries considered least likely to win were ahead of the pack today after the winds helped tame such touted title bidders as Jack Nicklaus, who in perfect weather a year ago captured the crown with a record 271 strokes.

The big belter, who lost his putting touch, soared to a 76 in the second round yesterday, and was overtaken by Paul Harney, an occasional tournament player from New England, and Peter Butler, a burly Britisher who likes the wind.

MASTERS ON TV
Ninety minutes of action on the finals holes of the Masters tournament will be televised nationally in color tomorrow by CBS starting at 1 p.m., PST.

They grabbed the lead with 36-hole totals of 143 although neither was mentioned as a possible title threat before the famed golf tournament started.

Favorites such as Arnold Palmer say the wind makes it anybody's tournament.

"You never know what will happen when winds blow like this," said Palmer, who rode a second-round surge back into contention. "The way the wind has been blowing, it looks like a 285 total would be a damn good score."

Palmer, Don January, and Doug Sanders — tied a stroke off the pace at 144 with Bob Rosburg and Nicklaus — were hoping the wind would go down. Butler, accustomed to steady winds at his home club in Birmingham, England, was hoping it would keep whipping over the course.

"I prefer to play in the wind, because I keep the ball lower than most players, and it doesn't bother me," the 34-year-old British Ryder Cupper said. "I believe I have an advantage over other players when the wind blows, because they don't like it and I do."

Butler isn't considered Britain's greatest golfer, but he is known as a man not afraid to match shots with Palmer and not likely to be affected by the pressure that builds up in the Masters.

A golf pro since he was 16, Butler has played in the last two Masters. He finished in a tie for 13th in 1964, when he shot himself out of contention with a 75 on the final round.

This is Butler's fourth U.S. tournament this year, and he plans to play in only one more, the Azalea Open at Wilmington, N.C., next week. Harney doesn't plan to play in many more.

The 36-year-old pro at Sutton, Mass., usually bids in only seven or eight meets, although he

TWO MARIN-BUILT CARS ENTERED IN INDY '500'

Two new rear-engine cars built in San Rafael yesterday were officially entered in the 50th 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30.

Kjell H. Qvale of San Francisco entered the MG liquid suspension specials, one powered by a modified American stock production V-8 with a piston displacement of 301 cubic inches, the other by a supercharged Offenhauser engine.

They were built at Qvale's British Motor Cars competition division, 45 Duffy Place, San Rafael where Joe Huffaker of Novato is chief designer and mechanic.

Qvale said veteran Bob Veith of San Lorenzo would drive the V-8 entry. No driver was designated for the Offenhauser.

Al Davis Pledges AFL 'Best League'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Al Davis, named yesterday to succeed Joe Foss as commissioner of the American Football League, plans to make the AFL "the best league in pro football."

Davis, 36, said solutions to problems involving the National Football League are not among his immediate objectives.

"My first job is dedication to the growth oft his league," said Davis, who had four years left on contract as general manager-coach with the Oakland Raiders when he accepted the appointment Thursday night after rushing from a vacation at Las Vegas, Nev. Terms were not disclosed.

Foss, who had guided the AFL since its inception in 1959, resigned Thursday. His decision to leave reportedly stemmed in part from smouldering club owner dissatisfaction over loss of the Atlanta area to the NFL.

Davis, who pushed the Raiders from the cellar to Western Division contention in just three years, admitted he "left security." But, he added, "I do love this league and believe in its future." Besides his long contract, Davis also held an option for a five-year renewal.

AFL President Ralph C. Wilson Jr., owner of the Buffalo Bills, told a news conference yesterday that Davis' organizational and administrative abilities had attracted the club owners.

"Al's background is football — at all levels," Wilson said. "He has gained recognition as a coaching genius and an astute businessman.

"I realize we are putting a permanent crimp in a brilliant 16-year coaching career which has carried Al Davis to the pinnacle of the pros, but I'm equally certain he is embarking upon a career as commissioner which will be even more illustrious."

The two-day league meeting was devoted almost entirely to selection of a new commissioner, Wilson said. No action was taken on expansion, but Wilson said new franchises will be a major topic at the league's regular summer meeting in late June.

Before he moved to Oakland, Davis was an assistant three years under Sid Gillman with the Los Angeles-San Diego Chargers. Earlier, he had been an assistant under Weeb Ewbank with the NFL Baltimore Colts and had coached at Adlephia College in Garden City, N.Y., Fort Belvoir, Va., the Citadel and the University of California.

Rauch, 38, a former passing star, played in four bowl games with the University of Georgia. He was offensive backfield coach at Tulane University before joining Davis at Oakland in 1963. He earlier had coached at Florida, Georgia and the U.S. Military academy.

Mantle Ready To Play In Opener

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Forget that $100,000 pinch hitter on the end of the New York Yankees bench and reserve a spot in the starting line-up for Mickey Mantle.

Mantle, baseball's fabulous invalid, shook up Manager Johnny Keane's opening-day plans last night at Atlanta by making his first start of the spring, playing seven innings in a 5-4, 10-inning victory over the Braves and then asking for steady work when the Yankees launch their American League comeback bid next Tuesday.

"I want to play tomorrow and Sunday (in exhibitions against the Braves)," the 34-year-old slugger said after testing his tender throwing arm for the first time in competition. "And I'd like to play nine innings Tuesday (when the Yankees open against Detroit in New York) if the manager wants me."

Keane will be happy to revise his line-up — inserting Mantle alongside Tom Tresh and Roger Maris in the outfield — if Mickey feels he's ready when Detroit invades Yankee Stadium Tuesday.

Mantle, who grudgingly admitted only a few days ago that "I can't throw a ball 100 feet," surprised Keane by asking for a starting shot in the opener of the three-game exhibition set in the Braves' new home.

"When I came to the park tonight I had no idea of playing," he said afterward. "But my arm felt very good. I figured I had to start sometime and it might as well be here. If I loused things up in an exhibition game, it wouldn't matter."

Mantle didn't throw anybody out but the Braves didn't take any extra bases on his no-longer strong right arm. He handled several routine chances in left field, made three soft but accurate throws to the infield and lined his first hit of the spring — an RBI single in the fifth — in four trips to the plate.

In his only previous exhibition appearance, Mickey had struck out as a pinch hitter against Philadelphia last month.

The first competitive test left Mantle's arm sore but didn't dim his spirits. "Sure, it's sore as hell," he said, "but it's only muscle soreness. There's no pain in the area where I was operated on."

The Yankees won it in the 10th when Atlanta reliever Phil Niekro loaded the bases on a single and two walks, then nicked Bobby Richardson with a pitch to force in the tie-breaking run.

The game drew a disappointing turnout of 13,602 at Atlanta's 50,893-seat stadium.

I-J NEWSPAPERBOYS MEET THE GIANTS

The 10 winners of the Independent-Journal's circulation drive were flow to Phoenix, Ariz., last weekend to meet some of the San Francisco Giants who were playing the arch rival Los Angeles Dodgers. One of the Giants, second baseman Hal Lanier, stopped long enough to pose for a picture with the boys. Standing (from left) are I-J district manager Robert Benson, Lanier, Chris Horton, John Basehart, Mike Dito, Mike Swango and Dave Poteet. Kneeling are (from left) Gary Dodson, Bill Kaes, Ron Engle, Rolland Balzi and Ron Treleven.

Winds Whistle At The Masters won the 1964 and 1965 Los Angeles open crowns.

Harney was one of the earliest starters and was in with a 68 before the winds went to work. His round matched Nicklaus' opening charge. He one-putted eight greens and needed only 29 putts, one of the best performances of the day on the greens.

Nicklaus, who is trying to become the first to win back-to-back Masters crowns, missed seven putts of five feet or less but he said the round — matching his worst in seven Masters — hasn't shaken his confidence.

"I played pretty darn good outside of my putting," Nicklaus said. "You've got to have a bad round some time, and I guess this was mine."

Nicklaus didn't complain about the wind, but January did. The slender Texan, who rushed out in 34 strokes and was in front of the field at the time, said he couldn't maintain his putting balance when the wind stiffened in the afternoon. He bogeyed four holes on the back nine, finishing with a 73.

Palmer and Sanders both shot 70s. Palmer, four-time champion of the tournament, started one of his famed charges on the front nine with birdies on the second, sixth, seventh and eighth holes and had a 32 going out.

"But like I have been playing for several weeks, I had one good nine and one bad one. I still have to get my short game going," he said.

Sanders said his 70 came despite numerous putting misses. He threatened to trade off the putter he calls "Little Clyde" for a new club.

Gary Player of South Africa, who won the title in 1961, soared to a 77 and his 151 total barely made the cutoff, which trimmed the field to 64 players who were in the low 44 or ties or had scores within 10 strokes of the leader.

Baseball Openers Monday, Tuesday

Pete Rose to third base and Deron Johnson to the outfield.

George Scott, up from the Eastern League, has beaten out highly touted Joe Foy, in a battle of rookies for third base with Boston. Tommy Agee is being called, perhaps with too much enthusiasm, another Willie Mays by some White Sox observers.

Red Schoendienst is counting on George Kernek, a rookie from the Jacksonville farm, to fill Bill White's shoes at St. Louis. Fred Valentine has won a regular outfield job with Washington and Baltimore's opening day catcher will be Andy Etchebarren, a newcomer from Rochester. The Angels think Rick Reichardt is ready to start living up to his big bonus.

There will be two Monday games, the customary Presidential special in Washington and the traditional opener at Cincinnati.

President Johnson has said he will try to make it at Washington when the Senators take on the Cleveland Indians.

Birdie Tebbetts, manager of the Indians, is thinking pennant and is leading with Sam McDowell, one of the best pitchers in the league. Pete Richert is supposed to go for the Senators before a capacity crowd of 46,019.

Cincinnati also will pack them in to the tune of some 30,000 to watch the revamped Reds, minus Frank Robinson but plus Milt Pappas and Jack Baldschun, make their bow against the Mets in the only duel of new managers. The Mets, encouraged by a fine spring, probably will send Jack Fisher against either Pappas, the new pitcher from Baltimore, or Sammy Ellis.

All of the other teams open Tuesday in an eight-game program that includes night action in Los Angeles, St. Louis and Atlanta of the National League.

Sam Mele's Minnesota Twins will open the season at home where they closed it last October in the seventh game of the World Series. They expect about 27,000 to watch Jim Grant or Camilo Pascual face Catfish Hunter of Kansas City.

The defending world champion Dodgers also will be at home but they will be playing a night game against Houston before 35,000. The probable pitchers will be Roberts of the Astros and Claude Osteen.

San Francisco will be at home Tuesday afternoon with 42,500, in the stands for the game with Chicago. Ernie Broglio is due to work against Juan Marichal and Willie Mays is due to work out on Ernie.

St. Louis opens for the last time in the old park against the Philadelphia Phillies. Cardinal fans, 24,000-strong, will get a chance for a quick evaluation of the controversial winter deal that sent Bill White and Dick Groat to the Phils and brought Alex Johnson and Art Mahaffey to the Birds.

There will be a gala in Atlanta with the ambitious Pittsburgh Pirates, who think they have a real shot at the pennant, mixing with the transplanted Braves.

The Yanks, still embarrassed by that sixth-place slump, of 1965, hope to start rebounding against Detroit which has been picked to win the pennant in some circles. Maris is back but Mantle still is out and Tony Kubek has retired. The Yanks probably will draw about 30,000.

Stanky's White Sox, a hot team in Florida, will open at Comiskey Park against the Angels before 25,000. Boston, still shuffling players in deals, will be at home to the powerful Baltimore club that has added Frank Robinson to its line-up since 1965. The crowd probably will be between 15,000 and 20,000.

Everybody is predicting tight races in both leagues. That is the standard procedure at this time of the year. This time, however, it appears to be on the level. If anybody runs off and hides it will be a surprise.

Boosters Club To Support County-Wide PAL Program

Marin Police Athletic League members agreed Thursday night in Corte Madera to form a booster club to give physical and financial support to the county-wide, police-supervised youth program.

They heard a report from George Kaplantis, vice president of the San Francisco League's booster club, Kaplantis saying his club would lend support. The Marin league agreed to hold a luncheon in May, the exact date to be set, to invite key people in Marin communities to hear the purpose of the boosters and the league's functions.

Baseball league and the boxing program were discussed, reported league president William Porter, and activities in both will get started soon but specific dates were not set.

Porter said the league, to have seven teams, will have players from throughout the county. Play will start immediately after school is out. Each team is to play 18 games and there will be playoffs in different cities.

The boxing program is set to go with equipment now on hand. This activity will take place at the Mill Valley Community and Youth Center.

Boys between 16 and 18 years of age are eligible for baseball while boys below the age of 21 are encouraged to go out for boxing.

Porter said he met Thursday morning with chiefs of police of Marin County, all present except one, and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos. "All gave their wholehearted support to the league," said Porter.

Address On Afghanistan Politics Set

On April 20, at 10 a.m. at the Kentfield home of Mrs. Robin Galloway, Mrs. Raymond Kaufman will address the Legislation Section of the Marin Branch, American Assn. of University Women, on observations of the government structure and political set-up in Afghanistan.

Mrs. Kaufman and her husband recently returned from two years residence in Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan.

Mr. Kaufman, a professor of health, physical education and recreation at San Francisco State College, was invited by the Asia Foundation to set up a similar program at the National University of Afghanistan. Mrs. Kaufman worked at an Afghan Kindergarten School. In 1956 to 1958, the Kaufmans had a similar stint in Singapore.

Mrs. Kaufman is a member of the Marin branch.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. William Fusselman, legislation section chairman.

Parties Honor Spring Brides

By MOLLY MARIN

Soon to be brides in Marin are busy with parties and showers this month. Carolyn B. Grissom, who will exchange vows with Harry William Lenhard of Novato on May 1, was honored at a shower at the home of the Clifford Petersons of Kentfield. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Peterson were Mesdames Quentin A. Anderson, C. H. Bryson, Clark Holmes, and D. A. Lindquist of Mill Valley and Mrs. Kenneth Berry of Tiburon. Carolyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Grissom of San Rafael.

Patte Ritchie of Fairfax, who will become the bride of James O. Pearson on April 16, entertained her bridesmaids at a luncheon and two of the attendants, La Verne Flynn and Janet May, were hostesses at a shower at the Flynn home in San Rafael. Sally O'Hara of San Francisco, maid of honor for the nupitals at St. Rita's Church, will entertain at a cocktail and supper party for the bridal party. Mrs. J. Scott Waterman, another bridesmaid, entertained at her Terra Linda home also.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH E. MOSER of the Knoll at Peacock Gap are planning a trip this month to the East Coast, with a stopover at Belvedere, Ill. to visit Mrs. Moser's 86-year-old father, S. F. Shaffer.

ENJOYING A RECENT two week cruise to Mexican waters were the Edward Buntings of Skyland Way, Ross, who boarded the Princess Patricia for calls at Mazatlan, Puerto Vallarta, and Acapulco.

THE FRIENDS of Captain K. V. Anderson of Mill Valley will be interested to learn that he recently celebrated his 80th birthday at a family dinner at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Packard Dunn of Tamalpais Valley. Present in addition to the Dunn family were Captain Anderson's sons and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Anderson and Tommy of Mill Valley, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney P. Anderson of Long Beach, who flew up for the occasion.

A WEEKEND guest of the Joseph Brewsters in Mill Valley will be Thomas Collison, formerly of Mill Valley, who has been living with his wife Betty in Madrid, Spain. Since this is primarily a business trip, she is not accompanying him.

HOME FOR Easter vacation from the University of the Pacific is Sara Reiter, daughter of the George R. Reiters of Mill Valley. Joining the Reiters and their two sons and Sara for Easter dinner will be another University of the Pacific student, James Robertson, the Reiters' daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stewart of Mill Valley and Mr. and Mrs. George Van Vliet of San Franicsco.

MRS. CLYDE J. Curley of Fairfax is looking forward to a family Easter reunion dinner with her five sons and their families at the West End Villa in San Rafael. Three sons coming from Marin are Clyde Jr. of San Anselmo, William L. of Kent Woodlands and Charles of Larkspur. Two other sons and their families, Jack, of Newport Beach and Robert Gerard of Los Altos will also attend the festive family occasion.

A HOUSEGUEST for the week of the Robert Hubers of Mill Valley is Marjorie Morsell of Hong Kong, who is a junior at Dominican College. She is the daughter of the Ernest Morsells, formerly of Mill Valley, who have been living in Hong Kong for the past eight years.

HOSTS TOMORROW at a birthday party and buffet at their home in San Rafael will be the Ivan Shaeffers. The party, attended by 16 family members and friends, will honor Mrs. Shaeffer's mother, Mrs. Mariana Soares of San Rafael.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS E. WELSH, formerly of Tiburon, entertained with a series of dinner parties in their new Kentfield home last weekend. The occasion for celebrating was the Welsh's fifth wedding anniversary. The couple will give a barbecue this evening to introduce to friends their house guest, Janet Figg of Washington state, who is Mrs. Welsh's niece.

Ideas For Using Unmatched Buttons

By EUNICE FARMER

Thanks for all your wonderful letters; you make me feel so "needed." I hope I can always be your humble teacher.

May I turn the tables and ask you to come to my rescue? Our annual Flea Market (proceeds for a worthy charity) will be held in May and guess what — they asked me to work in the Button-Booth. I'm fresh out of ideas for boxes and boxes of unmatched buttons and I'm sure there must be some clever ideas (besides button bracelets).

Please send me any ideas you may have and I'll promise to pass the best ones on to you for possible use in bazaars, etc. Thanks!

I lined my spring suit in a print silk. When I put it on for the first time to wear it I was upset because I could see the shadow of the print through my sleeves. How can we avoid this, or am I overly fussy?

MRS. B. F.

DEAR MRS. B. F.:

This is a very important point to check on before beginning with the lining. Usually with fabrics that aren't too closely woven they would be underlined, which is probably why you weren't aware of this when lining the entire jacket. Since it is seldom that we underline the sleeves, it would naturally show up in this area.

I would suggest using a solid-colored lining, the background color of the print for the sleeve lining. It is usually not too noticeable to have a contrasting sleeve lining. If you don't care for this idea, you could underline the sleeve lining with a light-weight soft fabric before applying to your garment.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER:

Mrs. Irma Rhodes, Fort Worth, Tex., is this week's winner of a tailor trix pressing board for this great suggestion.

"If your little girl is just like mine, she grows inches every time I turn around. I had six practically new full-skirted slips for her. They never wore out; just got too short. I came up with a real winner and money-saver.

"I bought some fine white cotton, used an old slip for a pattern and cut a bodice for the slips, allowing at least six inches more than necessary in length. Starting just below the armhole, I sewed a series of tucks all around the bodice, then I attached an old full skirt.

"It is not too bulky and gives me six inches of growing before it will be discarded. Just let out one of the tucks at a time."

Please settle this matter of the length of skirts once and for all. Every time you pick up the paper you find more ideas on this and they never agree. I want to look smart, not dowdy, but on the other hand, not ridiculous.

MRS. H. H.

DEAR MRS. H. H.:

You will find extremes in every segment of fashion. In France they apparently are wearing skirts six inches above their knees—this probably refers to young models rather than the general public. In the East, according to the papers, the women are wearing their skirts three inches above their knees and in the Midwest where I live, we are wearing skirts at the knee level or just above.

Just today I picked up a well-known trade magazine with the opinions of some of the leading men in fashion, movies, television, etc. Here is the general consensus of opinion: "Look up to date, but not silly, depend on legs and age, adapt to your personality and mode of life."

(With this in mind, let your conscience be your guide.)

Would you sew more if you could fit yourself? You can, with the aid of my newest booklet "Your Pattern and You." This detailed booklet covers almost every possible figure problem and how to change your pattern the easy way. Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Sew Simple in care of the Independent-Journal. Your copy will be sent to you in time for your spring and summer sewing.

MR. AND MRS. TOM RICHARD ABBEY

Margaret Lewis Of Tiburon Is Bride Of Tom R. Abbey

Margaret Ann Lewis of Tiburon became the bride of Tom Richard Abbey at a single ring ceremony at the Sausalito Presbyterian Church on Saturday.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis was given in marriage by her father, with the Rev. David Jacobsen officiating.

The bride selected a white silk suit for the ceremony. Her sole attendant was Mrs. Stephen Crapo of San Mateo, matron of honor.

Stephen Crapo of San Mateo was best man, with Charles Eastman and Barry Silverman of Berkeley, ushers.

The reception was held at the Alta Mira Hotel, Sausalito.

Peggy, as the bride is known, is the sister of Mrs. Sally Fay of Tiburon and Mrs. Leonard Holthouse of Sunnyvale.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Abbey of Oakland, and the brother of James Abbey of Oakland.

The newlyweds are both graduates of the University of California and both are teachers at Pittsburg High School.

After a wedding trip to southern California, they will make their home in Berkeley.

H.B. Stowe Book Will Be Reviewed

A "First Person" book review will be presented by Mrs. J. Hudson Ballard on Wednesday under the auspices of the Novato United Presbyterian Women's Assn.

Mrs. Ballard will review "Runaway To Heaven," Johanna Johnston's biography of Harriet Beecher Stowe.

A dessert luncheon will be served at 1 p.m. in the Christensen Room of the Presbyterian Church. Committee members will set up individual tables for four using their personal table linen, china and silver.

Finally in orbit after five Cape Kennedy delays caused by weather and other problems, this Orbiting Astronomical Observatory was declared working like a fine watch today, as scientists used radio controls to aim its 10 telescopes at stars, nebula and other space objects. The satellite gives U.S. scientists their first clear look into space, unhampered by distortions from the earth's atmosphere; it is intended mainly to snoop on radiations emitted by space objects rather than merely take the conventional skygazer's look at them. CHARTER REVISION MEMBER RESIGNS

Two Of Five San Rafael Men Have Yet To Read Document They'll Be Rewriting

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK

Of the five men picked to propose revisions of San Rafael's City Charter, one yesterday said he could not serve on the committee, and two others had yet to read the document.

Irving D. Chapman of 330 G Street, proprietor of Chapman's Shoes, was picked by Councilman Charles W. Aby, but said he had not been asked by Aby to serve. Chapman said he would not be able to devote the time.

He added he was turning down the job wtih regret, because he knew of parts of the charter he felt strongly should be changed.

"Some aspects of the charter have been a stumbling block," he said. "They've held back some progressive programs."

One committee member who has read the charter, attorney Thomas P. Boyd of 1579 Lincoln Avenue, said, "I've had a lot of opinions for years about it.

"The biggest problem to be decided, and I'm going to say where I stand, is on the election of some officials, instead of appointment by the council. That will be the major policy decision for the city."

San Rafael's police chief, city attorney, treasurer and clerk are elected, as are the city council and board of education members. Boyd has run, unsuccessfully, for city attorney.

John D. La Noue of 92 Oakmont Avenue, district manager for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., said he had read the charter. "The strongest impression I have is that it's just archaic, not only in language but in relation to a modern city and its problems," he said.

La Noue said, however, he had no opinion about any specific part of the charter.

Gerald H. Purcell of 60 Fairfax Street, Apt. 16, assistant vice president of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn., and Leon E. Sigard of 46 Brookdale Avenue, retired post office employee and regular attendant at council meetings, each said he had not read the charter.

Sigard, however, said that in the past he has opposed changes in the charter.

"Maybe we need some changes now," he added. "We are a first-class city now."

In addition to the question of appointive officials, Boyd said a study should be made of the charter's limit on taxation by the city.

"Of course, the charter is full of anachronisms," he added, citing the provision for a police court as an example. Police courts have been superseded by state law.

The committee will study the charter, section by section, and will report on each section to the city council for advice on whether to proceed with revision.

One area mentioned by Mayor C. Paul Bettini for change is the city election date, a Monday instead of Tuesday as in other cities.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

Bjorklund, Bales Trade Views On Marin City Need

A. Leonard Bjorklund Jr., candidate for Marin County district attorney, yesterday charged his opponent failed to provide leadership in dealing with disturbances in Marin City.

Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales, seeking re-election, answered that Bjorklund's comment damaged persons trying to "do something genuinely constructive about the situation."

Bjorklund, a Sausalito attorney, praised action by Bales when he filed felony complaints against youths from Marin City charged with attacks on sheriff's deputies and for calling a Grand Jury committee to study the entire situation, but he said the action was late.

Bales said he has prosecuted all criminal complaints presented by the sheriff or other police agencies.

FOR McCARTHY

A group of Marin business and professional leaders was organized this week to aid in the re-election of State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael.

Co-chairmen of the group are P. Roy Vallarino, an attorney, and Milton Schwartz, a furniture dealer.

The purpose of the group is to provide funds and workers for the McCarthy campaign.

"For the past 16 years Senator McCarthy has ably represented all segments of our business community as well as all citizens of our county," said Vallarino. "We would like to insure that this type of fine representation continue in our state Senate."

STORER ENDORSED

Marin Supervisor Thomas T. Storer has been endorsed by State Sen. Carl Christensen of Humboldt County for the Democratic nomination for Congress.

Storer won Christensen's endorsement during his campaign tour in the northern part of the First Congressional District. During his stay in Eureka, Storer also met State Sen. Randolph Collier and other Democrats.

LABOR'S CHOICE

Labor's First Congressional District Committee on Political Education has recommended the endorsement of the following candidates:

Congress, First District — Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station.

State Senate, Fourth District —Pearce Young of Napa.

State Assembly, Seventh District—Robert E. Mertle of San Rafael.

Voter Registration Deadline Thursday

Deadline for voter registration for the June 7 primary in Marin County is 9 p.m. next Thursday, George H. Gnoss, county clerk, reminded today.

He said both the clerk's office at San Rafael courthouse and at Civic Center will remain open each week night through Thursday to 9 p.m. for convenience in registering.

YMCA Offers Student Tour To Japan

Sixteen Marin high school students will have the chance to visit Osaka, Japan, for five weeks with the YMCA's fifth teen-age exchange seminar, July 17 to August 27.

The trip costs $1,100 per student. High school age students who are interested can contact the Marin YMCA for further information. Dale Greenlee of the YMCA program staff, said today that the main qualification of students chosen for the trip will be an ability to get along with the other 15 students.

The trip includes a three-day stopover in Hawaii, and visits in Japan to Kobe, Koyoto, Niko, Lake Biwa, Tokyo, and the Hiroshima Peace Ceremony. Each youth will be the guest of two Japanese teen-agers.

Boys will have a chance to study judo and karate, while girls will study Japanese painting and flower arrangement. The group will also study Japanese culture, economy, language, folklore, customs, religions, and politics.

Martha Anderson of the San Francisco YMCA will lead the trip.

College Offering Evening Classes

Two College of Marin nightime recreation classes begin next week, according to Harold Piper, director of atheletics.

A course in personal fitness for women will begin Monday at 7:45 p.m. in the gymnasium. A course in water safety instruction, open also to those who simply want two hours free swimming a week, begins Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the swimming pool area.

Interested persons may register for the eight-week courses during the first class sessions, Piper said. Cost of each course is $5.

Easter Observance To Begin At Sunrise

DIRECTOR—Rev. Carl Bartlett, (above) a student at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry, will conduct the music during revival services scheduled at 7:30 p.m. each night beginning tomorrow at the First Baptist Church, San Rafael. Rev. Elton Vickers, official of the church's Marin to Ukiah district, will be the speaker. Reverend Vickers has been pastor of the Mexican Baptist Church, San Pablo, Contra Costa County, and spent five years as a missionary in Panama.

Early rising Easter Sunday worshippers will have a wide range of sunrise or early joint services which they may attend.

The first service will begin only moments after sunrise at 5:42 a.m. on San Rafael Hill when Rev. Fred L. Fisher, professor of New Testament Interpretation at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry, will speak on "The Meaning of the Resurrection."

Others participating in the service will be Rev. James Symons, co-pastor of St. Andrew United Presbyterian Church, Marin City; Rev. David Glauner, protestant chaplain at Marin County Juvenile Hall; and Rev. Robert Taylor, assistant minister of the First Methodist Church, San Rafael.

In case of rain, the service will be at the First Presbyterian Church, San Rafael.

The 11th annual Easter sunrise service in Terra Linda will be held on the hill behind Aldersgate Methodist Church.

Participating with that church's congregation in the service will be Christ Presbyterian, Faith Lutheran, First Congregational and Lucas Valley Community churches and the Episcopal Church of the Nativity.

The service will be held at Aldersgate church in case of rain. The offering will go to the Marin Council of Churches to support the chaplaincy at juvenile hall.

Commander Robert Bonner, base chaplain at Treasure Island Naval Station, will give the sermon at the Mount Tamalpais service at 6 a.m. at the mountain theater.

Grace Lutheran Church, Novato; the Lutheran Church of the Resurrection, Terra Linda; and Trinity Lutheran Church, San Rafael, will hold a 6 a.m. service at the 101 Drive-In movie theater north of San Rafael on Smith Ranch Road.

The Novato Ministerial Fellowship, Novato Kiwanis Club and San Marin Homeowners Assn. will hold a community Easter service at 6 a.m. on Mount Burdell above San Marin Drive.

Ministers taking part will be Rev. Leo Hamilton of the Novato Community Methodist Church, Rev. Edwin Gomki of the United Church of Christ, Rev. Kirk Soper, Novato Assembly of God, and Rev. Arthur W. Sorensen of All Saints Lutheran Church.

Other Easter Sunday services in Marin churches:

Lutherans Back Choice In Faith

NEW YORK (AP) — "Complete freedom of choice in matters of religious worship" at the four U.S. armed forces academies is urged by the executive council of the Lutheran Church in America.

Noting that chapel or church attendance is compulsory at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., and the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., the council said:

"Some cadets and midshipmen have declared mandatory chapel attendance is an infringement of their constitutional rights and has produced resentment toward religion . . . We believe the integrity of religion is vitiated by external compulsion and that enforced attendance . . . is a dis-service to religion and contrary to public interest."

University Acquires Hebrew Biblical Book

NEW YORK (UPI)—Yeshiva University has acquired a complete copy of the first Biblical book printed in Hebrew. The book is one of many rare incunabula books printed prior to 1500 in a 9,000-volume library purchased from a London collector.

Printed in Bologna, Italy, in 1477, in quarto size and containing 153 folios, the volume contains the Book of Psalms, with commentary by Rabbi David Ben Joseph Kimhi, a renowned Biblical scholar of the late 12th and early 13th centuries.

Catholics Seeking Agreement On Mass

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Roman Catholic Church is trying to get agreement among English-speaking Christians on an English version of the Mass.

As a first step, two previously unpublished translations of selected passages from the Mass were issued this week for comment and criticism by churchmen and laymen. They are not for actual use in the Mass but are a basis for promoting discussion.

Narcotics Talk

Inspector Arthur Menjou of the Marin County Sheriff's Department will tell of narcotics addiction and show a film titled "Decisions" at 7 p.m. Tuesday at Whitaker Hall, St. Stephen's Church, Belvedere.

CHAPLAIN — Rev. Edward Gardiner Latch, pastor of Metropolitan Memorial Methodist Church in Washington, D.C., has been appointed to succeed the late Rev. Bernard Braskamp as chaplain of the House. Reverend Latch, 65, has been in the ministry for 44 years. (UPI Telephoto)

Christian Scientist To Give Lecture

"God the Great Physician" is the title of a talk to be given at 8 p.m. Monday at Old Mill School auditorium by Paul Stark Seeley of the Christian Science Board, sponsored by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Mill Valley.

Seeley is a graduate of Harvard Law School and of Princeton University. He is a former president of the church.

Composer To Direct Opera At Prison

Inmate choir director Charles Davis will direct the male chorus at San Quentin Prison in his own composition "Easter Opera" on Monday.

The five-act opera will be sung by the choir of 36 voices for students at seminaries in Marin and for other invited guests. The performance is not open to the public.

An Easter Message To Our Readers

In A Time Of Turmoil, A Gift Of Reconciliation

By REV. EDWARD J. DINGBERG

The world enters this Easter season amid turmoil, tension and threats of war and violence.

Our world seems bent toward destruction. The heavy burden of the possibility of nuclear war tips the scales of reason. The world is divided into warring camps.

It is not only Viet Nam, the Dominican revolt, civil war in the emerging nations. Tension abounds here at home: The riots in Watts or nearby Richmond, Calif.; the bombing of a police station in our own Marin City; the terrible strife and hunger of the Delano strike.

THE TURMOIL AT home seeks out our homes — the tragedy of family breakdown in Marin, the rise of the divorce rate to equal that of the marriage rate. People are troubled and confused — neurosis, alcoholism, drug addiction even among the young.

This litany which spells out the unrest of our times is not meant to depress us but to emphasize the turmoil within our society. It is to point out the absolute need of peace to calm this violence, to relax these tensions, to smooth over these troubles. It is to emphasize that the gift of this season, one of peace and reconciliation, is to be sought after and treasured.

During this Easter season we are asked to bend our knee and humbly beg from Almighty God His gift of peace.

WE HAVE THE reasons. We must now have the faith and confidence in God. Peace is a gift which only God can give. "Ask and you shall receive. Seek and it shall be found. Knock and it shall be opened to you."

It is explicit that peace is a gift from God. The Lord instructed Moses to bless the people of Israel with this blessing:

"May the Lord bless you and keep you!
May the Lord make His face shine upon you and be gracious to you!
May the Lord reveal His face to you and give you peace!"

The Hebrews prized peace and longed for it even before they were formed into the nation Israel and became the people of God. They were told to greet one another, just as Bedouins greet friends and strangers in the desert even today: "Salaam, Peace."

JESUS THE JEW, the Son of God, was raised up from the dead by His Father. He appeared to His disciples and reiterated this blessing given and commanded by God. On the very evening of the Resurrection Jesus stood among His apostles. " 'Peace be with you,' He said, and then showed them His hands and His side. When the disciples saw the Lord, they were filled with joy."

Peace, then, is the message of Easter. Peace is the gift of God. Faith in the Risen Jesus can give us peace. Faith in God can give us peace.

The peace of Easter, however, would be meaningless if it remained in the past.

THE PEACE OF God given through Jesus Christ is not to remain in the past. The gift is to be ever-present. "Jesus repeated, 'Peace be with you. As the Father has sent Me, so I send you.' He breathed on them, saying, 'Receive the Holy Spirit.!"

In the face of the mounting tensions in our world, this is not the place nor the time to mouth high-sounding phrases. This is the day of action. This is the hour of decision for peace.

EACH INDIVIDUAL is called upon to pray, to come to know and understand himself, to establish that relation with Almighty God which will be a covenant of peace. Each individual must consider himself responsible to share that peace with others. He must be committed to peace and involved in the quest for peace, in the solution of racial problems at home and the furtherance of understanding abroad.

The tomb of Christ is empty. He has risen as He said.

My prayer is that empty words and negative, polemical approaches may not echo. My wish is that through the positive action of every man of good will the Hebrew words of blessing spoken by Christ on the night of His resurrection might ring true to us: "Shalom, shalom alleikum, Peace, peace to every one of you."

FATHER EDWARD J. DINGBERG, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of St. Isabella on Freitas Parkway, Terra Linda, is the author of this Easter message to the readers of the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine—a message of peace and hope. Such a message from a Marin clergyman at Easter and again at Christmas time is a tradition with the magazine. (Independent-Journal photo)

Easter Sunday 60 Years Ago

How Early Marin Marked The Day Of Resurrection

(Editor's Note: This is another in a series of articles written especially for the Independent-Journal Marin Magazine by William T. Ortman, early-day Marin resident. Here he recalls Easter Sunday in San Rafael, shortly after the turn of the century.)

By W. T. ORTMAN

It was Easter morning.

The bright, warm sunlight glowing down from a clear azure sky flooded the little valley of San Rafael with an illuminous sheen that covered the peaceful countryside. The only sounds to be heard in the morning air were the echoing church bells with their cascade of tinkling tones.

It was a fitting day for homage to the risen Christ.

Father Thomas Phillips in his new cassock hurried about the altar, adjusting the position of a statue, smoothing out the altar cloth, touching here and there a colored flower that graced the background of the chancel.

THE GOOD FATHER had been out of bed since 5 a.m. and had already officiated at two masses, leaving the third to his assistant, Fr. Michael Walsh. But the 11 o'clock mass was to be his again. It was the mass of the day, and, therefore, everything had to be just right.

He had just completed, for the third time, the drilling of the altar boys. For the past week, nightly, he had put the boys through their training until, he was confident, they were all sufficiently instructed to perform their duties perfectly at the 11 o'clock mass. That is, all except one. Young Vicente Garcia, who always seemed to have candy in his mouth, was everlastingly forgetting the censer with incense in the locker room.

At the last minute the priest took care of this problem, in the interest of a flawless mass, by making the care of the censer the responsibilitiy of one Domingo Gonzales, a more thoughtful lad.

THIS BROUGHT about a more restful state of mind for the priest. It had been two years since Father Phillips had taken over St. Raphael's Parish from the soulful Father Lagan who had grown old in the service of the church. Now the aging priest could rest and meditate during his remaining days.

As Fathers Phillips and Walsh finished the preparations for the influx of the Easter worshipers, not too far away, at the corner of Fifth and E, Dr. Lynn T. White, pastor, stood at the entrance of the blue stone Presbyterian Church, smiling and greeting his congregation and their guests.

At the town's other churches —St. Paul's Episcopal at Fourth and E, the Congregational on E between Third and Fourth and the Methodist on Fourth between D and E—similar scenes were being enacted as ministers welcomed their memberships.

THIS WAS SAN Rafael's Easter parade—the trip by foot or by carriage to and from church services. It was then that Fourth and Fifth were crowded with the town's most prominent citizens all dressed in their finest wear.

The Easter bonnets worn by the ladies were especially fantastic, some covered with what seemed a garden of flowers, others trimmed with fine feathers and boas.

Hats in the Gibson Girl style with broad brims were very much in evidence. So were floppy Legorn hats, worn by the younger girls, with streamers cascading from the back.

The long dresses had flounces or laces at the bottom. Necklines were high. Fichus were on the tightly-fitted bodices, and sleeves were puffed above the elbow.

THE WOMEN WORE pompa-

THE FASHIONS for women of the early 1900s were at their finest on Easter Sunday when the ladies donned their most elaborate bonnets and gowns for the Easter parade walk to and from the special church services that marked the day. An aging illustration shows some of the styles of the time.

FOURTH STREET was the principal thoroughfare for San Rafael's Easter parade and other special events, with women in their holiday finery, carriages and even a few very early vintage automobiles. dours with curls at the front or pulled their hair into psyche knots.

And all hoped for a sunny Easter, such as this one, so that beautiful hats, gowns and hair-dos did not have to be hidden beneath umbrellas.

Taking part in the Easter parade, enroute to and from their respective churches, could be seen the likes of Richard M. Hotaling, Arthur W. Foster, John F. Boyd, Earnest and Dr. Charles DuBois, Frank Hoover, goateed and white-haired Capt. Robert Dollar, William Barr, U.S. Turley, Judge M. C. Duffey, Judge F. M. Angellotti, Sen. E. B. Martinelli, Richard Bullis, William T. Butterworth, Dr. William J. Wickman, H. A. Gorley, with their wives and families.

IT WAS A friendly, cordial group, the members of the different denominations stopping to chat with each other along the walks and in front of their churches.

Inside St. Raphael's, Father Phillips began his 11 a.m. mass, for him his principal service of the year. In the warm, incense-filled air, the vibrant tones of the organ sounded richly. The strong sun piercing the colored panes of stained window glass cast patterns upon the reverent congregation.

There, and at San Rafael's other houses of worship, solemn tribute was paid to the miraculous event that had inspired Christians for centuries.

AS TODAY, Easter of my boyhood had, along with the religious observance, its other less serious aspects celebrating the arrival of spring.

Perhaps the most impressive symbol of the approach of Easter was the appearance of the candy Easter eggs on display in the show windows of Frank Hoover's confectionary store on the north side of Fourth Street near the corner of B.

Artificial bunnies and colored baskets filled high with these colored candy eggs, all in a setting of fluffy white cotton that edged a mirror lake, fascinated the "small fry." And from the northeast corner of the window a mountainous volume of eggs cascaded into the lake, among them a number of chocolate-coated delicacies cut in half to display yellow yolk and white beneath the chocolate shell.

To the west of this scene would lie a profusion of varied-colored artificial eggs, all trimmed with garlands of small roses.

ALL THIS WAS very impressive to a young mind—so much so that I remember it clearly today.

I remember, too, the fun we had in coloring eggs in the week preceding Easter.

About three days before Easter, may aunt would boil three to six dozen eggs These would cool during the day. Then in the evening we would gather around the kitchen table to color them with all the hues of the rainbow.

Generally, we worked with six pots of dyes. But in addition to those dyes, we had many colored prints that we moistened, then pressed onto the shell of the egg, leaving imprinted pictures as decorations.

THESE PRINTS were purchased at the DuBois stationary store or at Thomas Day's drug store, or from the notion store operated by Frank and Louis Sirard.

We kids awaited Easter morning with an anticipation that rivaled that of Christmas time. On Easter Sunday, we were up bright and early. Sure enough, the eggs were gone from the kitchen. The smaller children were told that the Easter rabbit had visited us and had hidden the eggs. The hunt followed in our yard on D Street, a few doors south of Fourth, and in a neighboring lot next door with greater plant growth to offer natural hiding places. With a break for a breakfast of mush, the search continued until all the eggs were found.

It was a wonderful experience for adventurous, imaginative youngsters.

But of course the truest meaning of Easter was to be found a short time later when, in our Sunday best, accompanied by proud parents in their Easter finery, we attended church to commemorate reverently the Resurrection of Christ.

Barriers For The Handicapped

Marin Committee Studies Architectural Obstacles

Don't try to climb Mount Tamalpais in a wheelchair . . . or to get into the old San Rafael Post Office on crutches.

Handicapped people in Marin have tried and they can tell you first hand, "It can't be done." But, the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, with the assistance of the Marin Council of Community Services, organized a committee to do something about this problem, faced daily by more than 17,000 handicapped Marin County citizens.

THE FRUSTRATION of trying to enter and use inaccessible buildings is a common one. Handicapped people are often barred even from worship in the church of their choice, because of insurmountable steps.

High school students who have the talent and desire to take chemistry or biology sometimes cannot, because they are unable to manipulate stairs to the second floor lab, and the school has no elevator.

The every-day pleasures of browsing in the local public library, attending an art exhibit, or watching a play at a little theater, activities most of us take for granted, are all denied at times to the handicapped people in Marin.

THE ARCHITECTURAL Barriers Committee, composed of representatives from 10 Marin health and welfare agencies, is attacking the problem on three different fronts.

These are, prevention of the erection of additional architectural barriers; creation of a public awareness that friends and neighbors are barred from participation in community affairs; and informing the physically handicapped of those buildings that they can enter and use. This final objective is occupying the major part of the committee's efforts at the present time, through a county-wide survey of public buildings.

According to Walter Hughes, committee chairman, more than 600 facilities will be surveyed for grading, parking spaces, ramps, width of entrances, elevators, stairway handrails, restrooms, drinking fountains and public telephones. Survey teams are determining whether the handicapped individual, once in the building, can take advantage of its facilities.

DAVID RAFFO of Santa Venetia mounts the stairs at the Fourth Street entrance of the Marin County Courthouse, but daughter Elisabeth must remain below in her wheelchair with brother David as a companion. Marin's handicapped often find themselves confronted by such architectural obstacles. Little Elisabeth, 6, is the 1966 theme child for Marin's Easter Seal fund-raising drive, now under way.

ARCHITECTURAL guidelines for the survey were developed by the American Standards Assn., at the request of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped at its 1959 annual meeting. Printing and distribution of materials, including the survey forms, is handled by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Survey teams are composed of senior members of the Marin

YMCA, and members of the Novato Kiwanis Club. Each team, consisting of two people, surveys five or six buildings in a day. Those buildings range from churches, schools, public libraries and city halls to restaurants, department stores, bowling alleys and theaters.

Although the element of architectural barriers has long been overlooked by rehabilitation experts, tremendous strides have been made since the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped teamed up to launch the project six years ago.

GOV. EDMUND G. Brown announced in the last session of the legislature that future state-owned buildings would be accessible and usable for all Californians, including the handicapped, and a bill is being readied by State Assemblyman Pearce Young of Napa that would make similar provision for all public buildings.

The positive side of the campaign against architectural barriers in Marin is evidenced by the new Marin Civic Center building, which architect Aaron Greene has made fully accessible. Some other noteworthy examples are the new San Rafael City Hall and the new San Rafael Post Office, the Mill Valley Library, Trinity Lutheran Church in San Rafael, Marin Unitarian Church in Terra Linda, the Northgate Shopping Center in Terra Linda, and the Nave Shopping Center in Novato. There are others, but they are too few.

The findings of the building survey, which the committee hopes will be completed by the end of this month, will be compiled into a guide to accessible buildings and facilities. This will be available to the handicapped people who live in Marin, and to those who visit our county.

REPRESENTED ON the committee, in addition to the Easter Seal Society and the Council of Community Services, are the Indoor Sports, Department of Rehabilitation, Heart Assn., Cancer Society, TB and Health Assn., Health Department, Muscular Dystrophy, United Cerebral Palsy and the Volunteer Bureau.

Fred Whitney, graduate student in public health education, who has been assigned to the Easter Seal Society for field training, assists the committee as survey coordinator.

Committee chairman Walter Hughes says that making buildings usable for the handicapped is really the final step in the long rehabilitation process.

"We undergo long years of hospitalization, therapy and often vocational retraining. Now we want to participate in community life by going to work, to church, to public events," he declares.

BULLETIN: FIRST 10 MONTHS OF 1965 IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA*

Anthony builds more pools than the next fifteen single pool builders combined!

WHY ANTHONY?

We believe that much of the overwhelming preference for Anthony results from the recommendation of satisfied pool owners. Here are some of the reasons:

DEPENDABLE ACCESSORIES. At our 15 acre facility we manufacture our own top-quality line of pool parts and accessories. Our reputation for the dependability of our filters, heaters, water purifier, and pool cleaner—plus the assurance of service on all equipment from one source—is one of the big reasons many people recommend Anthony Pools.

FINANCIAL BACK-UP. The warranties of a builder or manufacturer depend on his ability to back them up. Ask any builder for his financial statement. Here is Anthony's current financial back-up: Cash, $1,265,567; Total net worth, $3,050,832.

IT'S EASY TO JOIN THE POOL OWNER SET. On ten-year financing, a complete pool can be yours for very low monthly payments. For example, a loan balance of $2000 runs only $26.67 a month. Is it any wonder so many young families are adding an Anthony pool to their way of life?

*Per most recent building permits reported by independent reporting service, Anthony also built more pools than all franchised pool builders combined!

YOUNG JOHN CARMICHAEL plays the role of patient and gets a preview of what Ross General Hospital patients will enjoy tomorrow as their Easter fare. Ham with champagne sauce highlights just one of the five scheduled meals. Assisting John is registered nurse Mrs. Stanley Treshnell.

There's Champagne With The Ham At Ross Hospital

At Ross General Hospital tomorrow, patients will be enjoying not one or three, but five, holiday feasts.

The five-meals-per-day schedule is a regular thing at the hospital.

But tomorrow's menus will be embellished with special Easter touches.

THERE WILL, OF course, be the traditional Easter ham.

But at Ross General, there will also be champagne—with the ham.

The champagne comes in the form of a special sauce for the ham.

Special Easter feasts are not new at the hospital. But what is new this year is a special Easter worship service to be conducted for the patients in the hospital.

FOLLOWING A continental breakfast at 7:30 a.m., the patients will be escorted, wheeled or otherwise transported to 9:30 a.m. non-sectarian services to be conducted by the Marin County Council of Churches under the direction of Dr. Murray Hammond, president of the county council.

The five-meals-per-day plan at Ross General Hospital has proven both convenient and physically beneficial for the patients, hospital officials say.

Tomorrow the menus as worked out by dietician Shirlie Page will run like this:

THE PREVIOUSLY mentioned continental breakfast at 7:30 a.m. will arrive via a cart loaded with fresh fruit, fruit juices, Danish pastry, toast, jelly and beverages—and, of course, hot cross buns for Easter.

At 10:50 a.m. comes brunch—grapefruit segments, fruit juice, cereal, scrambled eggs, bacon and muffins.

Luncheon, at 1:30 p.m., will consist of light snacks such as fresh friut, jello, custards, tarts, crackers, cookies, cheese and beverages.

Dinner-time is 4:30 p.m. And the special Easter menu will be highlighted by that special champagne sauce developed by Mrs. Manuel E. Silva, the dietary supervisor.

THE FULL EASTER dinner menu:

Wheat Thins
Baked Tavern Ham with Champagne Sauce or Broiled Chicken
Candied Yams
Mashed Potatoes
Asparagus
Crooked-Neck Squash
Easter Bunny Salad
Easter Cake
Candy - Salted Nuts
Vin Rose - Sauterne

At 8:30 p.m., a nightcap snack of fruit, custards, crackers, cheese, cookies and beverages will be served.

Now about that champagne sauce. Here's Mrs. Silva's recipe, so that you can try it on your Easter ham:

CHAMPAGNE SAUCE

1 cup Mandarin oranges
½ cup raisins
1½ cup water
½ cup packed brown sugar
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ cup champagne

Wash and rinse raisins, drain. Add raisins to water, simmer 10 minutes. Mix together brown sugar, cornstarch, cloves and salt, then stir into raisins. Cook, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Blend in butter and champagne. Add drained Mandarin oranges.

As for the Easter bunny salad, it's simple, yet a delightful treat, especially for the smaller ones. Begin with cottage cheese on pear half. Then make the bunny come to life with raisins for eyes, almonds for ears, cherry for mouth and a marshmallow tail. All on a bed of spring green lettuce.

THE WEEKEND SHOWS

Easter Specials Top The Fare As Networks Mark Holiday

After the egg-hunt is over, why don't you and the kids sit down to see a few of the many Easter specials which will be presented this weekend. To head the list, a one-hour program of music of the Resurrection, ranging in time from the fifth century to today, will be presented Sunday at 11 a.m. on Channels 3 and 4.

Other Easter specials and shows of interest this weekend:

SATURDAY: It is generally true that for each actor in a play there is one role, so that if there were seven parts, there would be seven performers. In "Postmark Zero" there are seven roles and one actress to fill them: Viveca Lindfors. The play, written by Robert Nemiroff, is based on the last letters written by German soldiers from the death trap of Stalingrad during World War II. It also includes dramatizations of other letters, diaries, German and Russian documents, war communiques and quotes from speeches by Hitler, Goering and Himmler. The special one-and-a-half hour drama will be seen at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 5.

A program of traditional Easter melodies will be presented by the Champagne Music Makers on "The Lawrence Welk Show" at 8:30 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11.

Andrei Voznesensky, nominee for the 1966 Lenin Prize in Literature, reads his poetry for the first time to an American television audience, while American poets Robert Lowell, Stanley Kunitz, and William Jay Smith will read new translations of the Russian poet's works on "Sunday Showcase: A Poetry Symposium" at 9 p.m. on Channel 9.

Commercial and educational television take the critical spotlight as top-echelon representatives and critics of the TV industry ask "What's Happening to Television?" on "At Issue" at 10:55 p.m. on Channel 9.

Gentlemen of the international press train their guns on U.S. policy in Viet Nam on "The Open Mind" at 8 p.m. on Channel 9.

Debonair Gene Barry plays host to Wally Cox, Tim Conway, the McGuire Sisters and Milton Berle on "The Hollywood Palace" at 9:30 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11.

Hank Greenwald calls the action as the San Franicsco Seals meet the Los Angeles Blades in a professional ice hockey contest at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

SUNDAY: The Mormon Tabernacle Choir will sing Easter selection in a one-hour special broadcast, "This Most High Day," at 8 a.m. on Channels 5 and 10.

Easter Bonnets That Are 'Made-In-Marin'

Milliner Teaches Her Skill

By DON KEOWN

No matter what kind of hat milady selects as her Easter bonnet for tomorrow, she can't go wrong, according to milliner Irene Cowan of San Anselmo.

"They will be wearing all kinds of hats this year, large and tiny, feathered and flowered, bejeweled and plain, straws and fabrics, and they will all be in fashion," she says. "The main thing is to wear a hat."

Mrs. Cowan speaks with authority. She conducts a custom millinery business at her home at 75 Allyn Avenue, San Anselmo, and also teaches an adult evening education class in the craft for the Tamalpais Union High School District.

HER TAM DISTRICT classes range in size from 12 to 15 students—"just about right, for this is creative work where you need smaller enrollments with which you can work closely"—and in ages, from 19 to 86.

The women who enroll, she says, are motivated by the desire to be better-dressed.

"There is a special satisfaction, too, in wearing something you created yourself," she adds. "And you know you won't meet someone else coming down the street wearing a chapeau identical to your own."

HER STUDENTS, IF they work fast, may remodel or make a hat in two weeks. For others, it might take a month.

Says Mrs. Cowan of her students: "They wear what they make, too."

Offell's, a wholesale firm on San Francisco's Post Street that serves milliners, admits the Tam evening class students with special identity cards and permits them to buy materials at wholesale prices.

Hats are enjoying an upsurge of interest throughout the women's fashion world after falling into a decline for a time, she reports. And Marin women seem to be especially hat-conscious.

"EVEN THE YOUNG girls are wearing them," she says, "and that makes me feel especially good. To me, without a hat, the costume is just not finished."

Mrs. Cowan first developed an interest in women's hats while in the early grades back in St. Louis and in Minnesota.

"I think it was because of a teacher I had when I was about 8," she says. "She used to wear such lovely hats. I admired them, and I admired her, and the first thing you knew, I was working with my mother's hats at home."

MRS. COWAN was already engaged in custom millinery before moving to Marin, but had no professional training. In this county, she enrolled in a millinery course at College of Marin taught by the late Sonia Peters—"a wonderful person and teacher."

In Marin, Mrs. Cowan's business has continued to grow steadily.

Some women, she says, dress for other women — some choose their hats with the aim of pleasing the male taste.

"Myself, I dress for the man," she says.

FOR INSTANCE, she says, her husband, Don, has a special liking for a large rain hat of gold metallic leather that she made. "So I find myself wearing in quite often, rain or shine."

Her four children, Mrs. Cowan adds, are even more aware of hats than her husband.

"They'll say when we are getting ready to go some place: 'Be sure to wear a hat, mother,'" she says, "and they can be very critical of the ones I select, too."

What hat will Mrs. Cowan wear as her Easter bonnet tomorrow?

SHE IS. SHE says, not quite decided between a large brimmed, feathered black velvet hat—"a sort of My Fair Lady hat"—and another newly completed one of purple and hot pink organza.

Personally, she is especially fond of the larger hats made popular by the play and movie "My Fair Lady."

"But each woman should select the one that suits her figure, face and personality," she advises.

AND SHE ADDS this tip: "In selecting a hat, she should view it in the mirror not just from the front, but from the sides and back as well. This is very important."

The wide range of Easter bonnets to be on parade tomorrow will make for an especially dazzling show, she predicts. "There will be every color of the rainbow in rich malines, organzas, velvets, chiffons, satins, topped with feathers, flowers and jewels, all beautifully styled. I think the Easter bonnets, whether purchased or made, are especially attractive this year for the very reason that there are so few restrictions."

The main thing, she repeats, is that milady be sure she wears some kind of hat.

Without one, she'll be out of step in the Easter parade.

HERE YOU SEE "made-in-Marin" Easter bonnets at three different stages. Milliner Irene Cowan holds a completed hat in the large-brimmed "My Fair Lady" style, of imported French silk illusion chiffon with an iridescent quality. She wears a turban-type hat of maline. Below can be seen a hat "in progress" while the beginnings of a new pillbox frame of chicken wire can be seen on the table.

IRENE COWAN, professional milliner and teacher of millinery, poses with just a few of the many hats she has made. The "My Fair Lady" type chapeau she is wearing is topped with an ostrich feather. Mrs. Cowan says that any type of hat is in style for this year's Easter parade. The important thing, she adds, is that milady wears a hat. Without it, her Easter costume is incomplete. STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

SHOW TIME — On April 21st and continuing through April 23rd, the High Fidelity Show will open its doors to the public at the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco. This year the show is being sponsored by the Institute of High Fidelity, commonly known as IHF, and the High Fidelity Component Dealers of the Bay Area. The San Francisco show will follow the Los Angeles show by a couple of weeks.

Last year there was no Hi-Fi Show in the San Francisco Area. In recent years prior to 1965, the San Francisco show was held at the Cow Palace, and it was not sponsored by the IHF as it will be this year.

What is a Hi-Fi show? A Hi-Fi Show is composed of many rooms displaying the latest components available for home music systems. Each room or group of rooms is sponsored by a manufacturer. Each manufacturer will display its Tuners, Amplifiers, Record Players or Turntables, Tape Recorders, Loudspeaker Systems, Furniture for components, and many associated items. Each manufacturer will have factory personnel on hand to demonstrate and discuss its products. Many of the components will be assembled into complete home music systems exemplifying the superiority of a component system.

What should you look for in a Hi-Fi Show? By visiting each manufacturer's room you will become acquainted with his latest products including the appearance and price of each item. You will be able to hear many of the components and to learn of their operational features. By visiting their various rooms, the components required for combination into a complete home music system will clarify themselves into a knowledgable pattern.

The trend in recent years has been to combine the separate type tuner, preamplifier, and power amplifier into one unit, so there will be many of these tuner/amplifier combinations on display. Also, there will be many Solid State (transistorized) components on display.

Do not expect the Hi-Fi Show to be a place to make a complete selection of the components for your personal home music system. Rather, let it be the place where you can be exposed to the many components available so that you may pursue your selection at your dealer's showrooms.

Stop in and pick up tickets to the show, for a special saving on admission.

BASEBALL IS HERE AGAIN

The mighty Giants will soon be home
To start the season's play;
And we'll be ready to applaud,
To start them on their way.

When Willie Mays comes up to bat
The cheers will fill the air;
For here's a Giant all pitchers fear,
And cause them to despair.

We'll see the "dandy" Marichal
Strike out the Dodger boys;
And send them to their dugout fast,
Like limping plastic toys.

When "Old" Durocher comes to town
With his Chicago team,
The Giants will pulverize his Cubs,
And run them out of steam.

And how about that Bragan guy
With his Atlanta Braves?
He wants the baseball world to know,
To beat the Giants he craves.

The other teams like Reds and Mets,
The Astros and the Phils
Will all be sent home by the Giants,
All needing headache pills.

The Cardinals will fight us hard
And we respect their might;
But when the pennant days are near
We'll chase them out of sight.

The Giants will be the team to win
The pennant without strain;
So let's all give three mighty cheers,
Baseball is here again!

On The Stereo Scene

By JOHN SUNIER

SHOSTAKOVICH: Leningrad Symphony (No. 7)—New York Philharmonic / Leonard Bernstein — Columbia Stereo M2S 722:

This very dramatic work which came out of the harrowing seige of Leningrad by the Nazis during the war is the epitome of the Soviet composer's epic style.

In many ways the work bears a resemblance to Mahler, although lacking the subleties of that great composer. The famous war theme depicts the advancing Nazi hordes and is treated in an hypnotic manner. The quiet passages are dramatic by their contrast.

While both old mono performances (Mravinsky and Ancerl) were good, their muddy sound couldn't encompass the huge dynamics of the symphony. This new pressing also suffers from some distortion at climaxes, but the general quality is much superior in clean and full sound, plus of course stereo.

For the best aural results, this symphony cries out for release on stereotape, but Columbia seems to have decided against it.

WILLIE MAYS
Baseball's most exciting

BISHOP JAMES PIKE
The basic essential

THE BOOK PAGES

Superstar Of Baseball, And An Outspoken Episcopal Bishop

By DON KEOWN

"Willie Mays: My Life In and Out of Baseball" is more biography than autobiography, and more baseball than either.

It is presented in the first person, "as told to" the veteran sportswriter and Marin resident Charles Einstein by the Giants' baseball star. A straightforward third person narration would have been more candid, since obviously, to anyone who has ever heard a Willie Mays radio or television interview, or read an Einstein column, the language is pure Einstein, not Mays. One suspects as well that the same might be true for much of the material.

You might be able to imagine Willie discussing at length the statistical aspects of playing the roulette wheel, and then applying these figures to baseball, but we cannot.

Baseball background and lore far overshadow the more personal biographical aspects of the book. The result is that while Einstein and Mays have produced a less meaningful work than "Go Up For Glory" turned out by the duo of basketball great Bill Russell and William McSweeney (reviewed here last week), they have also co-authored a more entertaining one. The baseball fan will enjoy a feast of behind-the-scenes tidbits—anecdotes, analyses of diamond strategy, opinions of players and managers, etc.

Einstein, like the experienced professional that he is, has performed superbly, turning out pages that are jammed with interesting reading.

There are times when he makes Mays sound more conceited than exuberant. And there are other times when Willie seems out-of-character, peevish and overly sensitive in his complaints—largely against sportswriters and fans. It would seem that by now Willie would be accustomed to a certain brand of juvenilism in the stands. After all, it takes some immaturity to produce the died-in-the-wool fan who confuses a game with war and team loyalty with national patriotism. It is that very confusion and childishness which permits the Willie Mayses to draw six-figured salaries that would be outlandish in any adult scheme of things.

But for the most part, the high-spirited, very likeable Mays comes through very well. He is undoubtedly the game's most exciting as well as its most talented performer, possessing along with great skill that certain flair that pleases the crowds.

On the subject of race, Mays is considerably less specific and enlightening as to the problems confronting the Negro athlete than was the very outspoken Russell. He doesn't ignore the subject but he seems defensive and almost apologetic when he offers the strained contention that the Negro who does his job properly and conducts himself well is making a contribution equal to that of the Negro manning the civil rights frontlines. It seemingly does not occur to him that a man can do both.

The book will be read, however, for its sports, not its social commentary. And baseball bugs will revel in it. They'll get Willie's version of the Marichal-Roseboro-baseball bat incident, of Mays' declining relationship with Alvin Dark, of world series drama, of power hitting theory, of clubhouse scenes, of great catches and crucial throws, key hits, etc.

WILLIE MAYS: MY LIFE IN AND OUT OF BASEBALL as told to Charles Einstein, E. P. Dutton & Co., 320 pages, $4.95.

WHAT IS THIS TREASURE by James A. Pike, Harper & Row, 88 pages, $3.

HIS OUTSPOKEN theological and special views have made Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike a controversial figure.

He is sometimes the target of bitter criticism and ridicule, and he is often the subject of honors and admiration.

As a Pike admirer, we suspect that many of his critics are motivated, not so much by what the bishop says on social issues, as by the pricking of their own consciences that results. It is difficult to justify a bystander role in the great social struggles in the face of such forceful declarations as those made by Bishop Pike.

His enemies have been even more intensely aroused by the bishop's theological pronunciations—so much so that short-lived charges of heresy have been leveled against him.

His newest book, "What Is This Treasure," will doubtlessly provoke new discussion. It is the bishop's attempt to relate religion to the contemporary scene—what is needed, he says, "is more belief, fewer beliefs." The relationships of Jesus Christ to God and to man are explored in special depth by Bishop Pike, putting all his considerable Biblical scholarship to work along with his understanding of and interest in contemporary affairs and needs.

The recognition that God is the treasure—that attendant religious traditions and customs are but the earthen vessels into which the treasure has been constricted—and that some of these vessels are outdated in the world of today—points the way, the bishop believes, to a stronger, deeper religious faith.

Bishop Pike seems to us to be one of those persons who speaks more cogently and convincingly than he writes. His written arguments are sometimes less easily followed by the layman than his spoken statements. But either way, he is a persuasive advocate of a kind of theology that gets down to the basic essential, which is man's own personal relationship with his God.

"PAPA HEMINGWAY," A. E. Hotchner's intimate portrayal of the last 14 years of Ernest Hemingway's life, has been named the May selection of the Book-of-the-Month Club.

Reading For The Juniors

Some new books for the juniors:

"Black and Blue Magic" (Atheneum, $3.95) by Mrs. Zilpha Keatley Snyder is a book about Humpty Harry, who saw himself as always clumsy. Harry's real name was Harry Houdini Marco, and with a name like that, anyone should be skillful, but Humpty was different. He was always making some silly error. Harry and his mother ran a boarding house in San Francisco, and it would have been a long, dreary summer except for two things: 1) Harry planned something that he hoped would take him and his mother to the country forever, and, 2) Mr. Mazzeeck, a temporary boarder who turned out to be something more than he seemed, and who provided Harry with a magic gift that brought some unexpectedly good results. A lively and imaginative tale.

Tales with timeless appeal make up the content of "Best Book of Fairy Tales" (Doubleday, $3.50) as edited by Pauline Rush Evans. It is part of the publisher's excellent "Best Book . . ." series. Represented in it are the children's classics by Hans Christian Andersen, the Brothers Grimm, Charles Perrault, Phyllis McGinley, Rudyard Kipling, Charles Dickens, Howard Pyle, Eleanor Farjeen and others. Illustrations are in both color and black and white. It is intended for youngsters up to 10 and should delight them.

In his "Once Upon a Horse" (Walck, $3.75) author-illustrator Arnold Spilka uses verse and unusual drawings that should "swing" for the little ones both to tickle their funnybones and to make some points with good advice. Intended for the 5-6-7-year-old range, it is just different enough to become the special treasure of the lucky little recipient. Spilka is a creative fellow, and who knows how to give the children the fullest benefits of his talents.

"Little Chameleon" by Sylvia Cassedy (World, $1.95) is a tiny book, and its petite size seems appropriate to the subject and to the tone. It is the bewitching story of a chameleon, who troubled by his changing color, sets out to find a permanent hue of his own. The story is suited especially to read-aloud sessions. Rainey Bennett has provided delicate illustrations in spring colors that suit the story perfectly.

Our Reviewers Report

The Noble Robot

THE FATAL IMPACT by Alan Moorehead, Harper and Row, 206 pages, $5.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

They were all "in a state of nature" when James Cook, the great explorer of the Pacific, reached them: The friendly, free-loving Tahitians; the hard, fearless "abos" of Australia; the immense herds of seals and whales in Antarctic waters.

Cook and his crews left them much as they found them; but they charted the sea lanes and reported what they discovered. And so, their first touch at those far landings was, as Australian author Alan Moorehead so aptly titles his book, "The Fatal Impact."

The traders, whalers and "empire builders" followed, to introduce the products of European civilization to the Tahitians, Australians and inhabitants of other Pacific lands — and thus take away their self-sufficiency. Then followed the missionaries, to hide the natives' nakedness in Mother Hubbards and substitute the taboos of the Reformation for those of the ancient gods.

Moorehead is no romantic extolling "the noble savage," but a realist reporting a tragic tale. Among the illustrations for his volume is a painting of a Tahitian beauty by Gauguin, entitled "Nevermore." And Moorehead comments:

"The overwhelming physical beauty of the girl remains, but she does not dance. Instead she lies inert and naked on her bed, and Gauguin painted her waiting for nothing, hoping for nothing."

This theme of "Nevermore" recurs as he describes the virtual disappearance of the Australian "abo." It is a tale familiar to us in our own country through the genocide against the American Indian.

And then came the invasion of the Antarctic whaling grounds and seal rooks to carry out the slaughter of an immense ocean life, with the products of civilized invention making the result foreordained.

Finally, as Moorehead completes his chronicle of "The Fatal Impact," man even penetrates the Antarctic continent, to live in "a world without day or night, without women, without plants or flowers or animals or indeed any other living thing, a capsule world such as, no doubt, they will establish on the moon one day. Here machines govern all, and natural life, with its many crudities and imperfections, has been finally subdued by these dedicated men. The noble savage, in short, is well on his way to becoming the noble robot."

It is an ominous note with which to end a splendid chronicle. Moorehead's extracts from Cook's journals disclose that the great explorer had an inkling of the forces he was setting in motion—but only an inkling.

In Father's Steps

THE MONUMENT by Nathaniel Benchley, McGraw-Hill, 249 pages, $4.95. Reviewed by Melodee Kent.

Nathaniel Benchley, following in his famous father's (Robert) footsteps, uses delightful and subtle humor and satire throughout the book, leaving much to the imagination of the reader.

"The Monument" is the story of a perhaps half-crazed idea to raise a monument in memory of "good old" Bubba Price, well loved, and the only Hawley citizen who died "defending his country" but didn't earn a mention of his name anywhere.

The idea stems from a barroom conversation. It is quickly accepted by lawyer Horace Sutter who is running for local selectman telling himself that this would be a good platform on which to run.

Only two people object to the idea: Rufus Goodman, editor of the town newspaper, and Kermit McNaughton, teacher.

The barroom idea leads to extremism, prejudice, hatred, scandalous gossip and finally suicide and murder.

Throughout the story, the "important" people in favor of the monument toss the term "Communist" and the like around to describe their opposing faction.

But, the real clincher is in the ending, and, as the old saying goes, "the joke was on them."

Chat On Children

LIFE AMONG THE GIANTS by Leontine Young, McGraw-Hill, 193 pages, $4.95. Reviewed by Lee Cadwaller.

This book is subtitled, "A Child's-eye View of the Grown-up World."

Child psychologist Dr. Young says, "Grownups often declaim, 'How do you discipline children?' Discipline is a growth, not a discovery."

A child conforms to adult wishes through fear, with punishment the enforcer, or through the wish to please, with love as the enforcer. Fear depends on an outside enforcement, while love builds self-discipline, the structure of conscience.

"The child who has no authority upon which to depend is like a leaf in the wind, and too often he is a menace to himself and to those about him."

You may find yourself nodding in agreement many times as you whip through this well-written, chatty book. Dr. Young's style is so breezy and her observations so filled with commonsense that you feel like you're just passing the time of day with a respected relative. And like a pleasant visit that passes too soon, when you are finished you may find yourself saying, "That was entertaining, but what DID she say?"

Well, it's still entertaining when you go back for that guidepost search. They are there — and they are helpful.

Sleuths & Suspense

JOKER TAKE QUEEN by Bruce Munslow, Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 190 pages, $3.95. Reviewed by Donald G. Davis.

Chris Knight, an English writer, has to go to some quiet place to recover because he's having bad dreams and because he can't get his hero out of jams.

So without typewriter he retreats to a small English village where he once lived as a boy—a place where nothing ever happens. He arrives late at night to find a girl hanging dead from a tree while the rest of village is dancing away at the hall.

His boyhood chum turns out to be living at the inn where he has lodging and urges him to try to solve the murder. He doesn't want to, and as he decides to leave there's more murder. He discovers almost too late how things are going.

Munslow keeps the reader on edge in a story that has good touches of humor.

"DRYCLEAN CLOTHES BEFORE STORING"

No clothing should be stored without being cleaned first. Winter wardrobes deserve the same storage consideration given to summer clothing, advsie the National Institute of Drycleaning.

For instance, soil, perspiration, and stains can cause permanent damage it they are left in a garment until Fall. Also, silverfish and other insects will often damage synthetic fabrics in an effort to get to the food stains.

Moths and carpet beetles will feed on anything that contains wool — including blends. Wool and Dacron blended suits are an example.

These are but a few of many practical reasons for summer storage of winter clothing. So it's wise to use the summer storage programs now provided by many drycleaners.

Professional storage also provides extra closet space for bulky winter garments.

BRIGHT IDEAS

A Real Bamboo Curtain Serves As Distinctive Divider In Home

By JOE JONES

Not really a curtain, but a practical, inexpensive and highly decorative room divider.

Particularly suited to today's L-shaped living-dining areas, this device can be built in no time.

Use any number of poles you think appropriate, depending on length of divider desired. Space them four to six inches apart. (Bamboo poles can be obtained at some lumber yards, rug cleaners or manufacturers, or display houses.)

Anchor them in the dirt of a flower-box on the floor. Attach them to the ceiling in a piece of wood two by two inches, with holes drilled at the necessary intervals.

Enamel them a brilliant color or just leave them natural. The one illustrated alternates Chinese red with black.

Plant the flower box with ivy, philodendron or elephant ear . . . . or if you want to be real 'gung-ho' why not install a Mynah bird?

You've got yourself not only a utilitarian addition to your home, but also that distinctive flair that lifts your whole decor out of the ordinary.

FOR THE Easi-Bild Pattern to this compact record cabinet, send 50 cents to Independent-Journal, Post Office Box 215, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y., 10510, and ask for Sliding Door Record Cabinet Pattern No. 436. It stands 33 inches high, is 14 inches deep and 24 inches wide, and offers an unusual amount of storage.

Leak Not Always Shingles' Fault

Often the cause of roof leaks lies not in the shingles or roofing material, but in the flashing around chimneys and at gutter edges, according to experts at Allied Chemical's Barrett Division.

These should be checked to see that they have not cracked or pulled away from the surface. If they have, they should be repaired immediately or replaced with the new plastic, one-ply flashing.

Spring is upon us. While you are planting new flowers in the garden why not consider doing a little sprucing up inside your home. New draperies, a new chair, or even a few accessories often give and old room a fresh new appearance. Come and browse in our store, and maybe we can help you find the right piece to equal those lovely new flowers.

THERE'S NO reason why your room divider should look like the one in your neighbor's home. It can be distinctively different. This one features bamboo and a flower box, all given a very special treatment.

Summary of My Proposals To You

By John Finn III

The election is next Tuesday. It's a big day for me and I hope you will make it a big day for you and your family.

You have been kind to read my personal messages to you this week in The Independent-Journal.

I want to take this opportunity to summarize that which has gone before in this space.

Monday, I told you who I am. To repeat I am a native son of Mill Valley and very proud of it. I am a local business man. My business is literally your business. Many of the bills you receive from local merchants are prepared by my staff. You or your neighbors' financial problems become my problems in the professional arena.

Tuesday, I discussed with you my general feelings about Mill Valley. I said at that time, "Your city council has a real obligation to encourage the expansion of retail business in this city. An effort spearheaded by your city council and endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce can reverse this trend. Modern merchandising and advertising techniques can actually make Mill Valley a more attractive place to shop."

Wednesday, I talked about the green of the hills, and with respect, the hard green of the currency that makes Mill Valley operate efficiently. It has been the work of people like you and me who have made Mill Valley the wonderful place that it is today. I urged you to attend a council meeting a month, and to let me know personally that which you feel would make for a better Mill Valley. An enlightened council is an effective council.

Thursday, there was serious talk about taxes. They are presently one of our most pressing and urgent problems. I can, with your help, bring to the city hall a professional and knowledgeable attitude about serious money matters.

Friday, I asked you how can both of us make Mill Valley a better place to live. We have the tools. They are here waiting for you and I to use them. High per household income level, high educational level, cultural advantages. All of these assets can, under wise leadership, attract more business to this city and thereby lower your own tax burden.

On Monday I will list my sponsors in this space. You will know many of them.

Taking Care Of The Easter Lily

If you get an Easter lily, set is in a bright window, keep it moist, but not soaked, and in a temperature of almost 70 degrees.

Keep it out of drafts and feed it occasionally.

AFTER IT blooms, remove the dead flower and sink the plant in the garden. You may expect another blossom in late summer.

The bulb may be left outdoors all winter. Protect it with a two-inch cover of peat moss, leaf mold or compost.

If you remove some of the buds you'll get larger flowers on those remaining.

At many florists you will have a choice of a tall or compact lily. The stocky one may have been treated with a Phosfon growth-regulator which helps control the plant size.

WHILE THE lily is the traditional Easter plant, potted azaleas, hydrangeas, chrysanthemums, narcissi and fragrant gardenias are increasing in popularity.

More unusual are small palms, the Kentia and Chamaedorea, which like shade and temperatures of about 55 degrees, and caladium, which enjoys a shaded windproof area and daytime temperature over 70.

If your plant arrives in a clay pot covered with tinfoil, remove the foil, at least from the bottom, as it is apt to hinder necessary drainage.

A CHECKLIST FOR GARDENERS OF MARIN

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

✔ These are the All America Flower Selections for 1966: Marigold, "Spun Yellow"; Verbena, "Amethyst"; Sweet William, "Red Monarch"; Cosmos "Sunset"; Pansy, "Majestic White with Blotch"; and the Pansy "Giant Majestic Mixed." You'll find some of them already started in flats at your nursery. Some of these new prizewinning flowers may be in short supply this spring, but will be more readily available in the fall.

✔ Fertilize early flowering camellia varieties that have finished blooming and are showing new growth. A mild application of camellia fertilizer at monthly intervals pays off in healthy, vigorous plants. Mulch camellias with peat moss or ground bark. Be sure to pick off all the faded flowers on the plant.

✔ Be sure to see the exciting range of colors available in the new geraniums and pelargoniums arriving at your nursery now. It's best to choose them now while there's still a big selection. They'll give profuse bloom in pots or borders from now until frost — in some climates all year round.

It's springtime in Oakmont, the UNretiring adult community where everybody swings.

It's blossom time in the Valley of the Moon, and it's high time you met the swingers in Oakmont, the UN-retiring adult community. Cliff Davidson, for instance: "The lure of informal country-club living, the great climate and the beautiful surroundings. That's what brought us to Oakmont."

Yes, the marvelous climate is one of the secrets of Oakmont's success. Somehow you just feel like doing things here. So you do them. Golf spends twelve months of the year at Oakmont, and the championship 18-hole course gets lots of action. Then there's the big, blue Olympic-sized swimming pool, bowling green, billiard room, exercise room, sauna baths, riding, fishing, everything!

So, if you're on the freedom side of 45, come to Oakmont and see for yourself. Visit the wonderful model homes, view the scenery and inspect Oakmont's brand new golf clubhouse. In no time at all you'll get into the swing!

THE WEEKEND SHOWS

Easter Specials Top The Fare As Networks Mark Holiday

After the egg-hunt is over, why don't you and the kids sit down to see a few of the many Easter specials which will be presented this weekend. To head the list, a one-hour program of music of the Resurrection, ranging in time from the fifth century to today, will be presented Sunday at 11 a.m. on Channels 3 and 4.

Other Easter specials and shows of interest this weekend:

SATURDAY: It is generally true that for each actor in a play there is one role, so that if there were seven parts, there would be seven performers. In "Postmark Zero" there are seven roles and one actress to fill them: Viveca Lindfors. The play, written by Robert Nemiroff, is based on the last letters written by German soldiers from the death trap of Stalingrad during World War II. It also includes dramatizations of other letters, diaries, German and Russian documents, war communiques and quotes from speeches by Hitler, Goering and Himmler. The special one-and-a-half hour drama will be seen at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 5.

A program of traditional Easter melodies will be presented by the Champagne Music Makers on "The Lawrence Welk Show" at 8:30 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11.

Andrei Voznesensky, nominee for the 1966 Lenin Prize in Literature, reads his poetry for the first time to an American television audience, while American poets Robert Lowell, Stanley Kunitz, and William Jay Smith will read new translations of the Russian poet's works on "Sunday Showcase: A Poetry Symposium" at 9 p.m. on Channel 9.

Commercial and educational television take the critical spotlight as top-echelon representatives and critics of the TV industry ask "What's Happening to Television?" on "At Issue" at 10:55 p.m. on Channel 9.

Gentlemen of the international press train their guns on U.S. policy in Viet Nam on "The Open Mind" at 8 p.m. on Channel 9.

Debonair Gene Barry plays host to Wally Cox, Tim Conway, the McGuire Sisters and Milton Berle on "The Hollywood Palace" at 9:30 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11.

Hank Greenwald calls the action as the San Franicsco Seals meet the Los Angeles Blades in a professional ice hockey contest at 9 p.m. on Channel 2.

SUNDAY: The Mormon Tabernacle Choir will sing Easter selection in a one-hour special broadcast, "This Most High Day," at 8 a.m. on Channels 5 and 10.

THE DREAM of every young club boxer in the country is to fight at world-famous Madison Square Garden. That dream was realized for two young heavyweights, Jim Beattie and Dick Wipperman, when they saw their names up in lights at the Garden. Beattie is the subject of the documentary special, "The Big Guy," to be presented Friday at 9 p.m. on Channels 7 and 11.
